U.S. War Losses Rise

SAIGON (AP) — The United States kept up the war's heaviest bombardment of the Hanoi-Haiphong heartland of North Vietnam today and the U.S. Command reported the loss of another B52 heavy bomber, an A7 fighter-bomber and seven more fliers.

A report from Warsaw said three Polish sailors were killed when U.S. bombers hit a Polish cargo ship in Haiphong harbor.

The admitted U.S. losses since the bombings began Monday rose to three B52s, two fighter-bombers, including one of the Air Force's $15-million swept-wing F111s, and 15 fliers missing.

Hanoi asserted two more B52s and four more fighter-bombers were shot down Tuesday night and early today in the second night of the attack. Earlier it announced the names of six B52 crewmen it said were captured Monday night and Tuesday.

The U.S. Command reported that two U.S. sailors were killed when a North Vietnamese shore battery put a fivefoot hole in an upper deck of the destroyer Goldsborough on Tuesday. Three crewmen were wounded and a crew berthing area was heavily damaged but the Navy said the destroyer kept on firing.

The North Vietnamese radio said the Polish ship Joseph Conrad was hit by U.S. bombers in Haiphong harbor Tuesday morning, damaging the loading cranes on the stern, blasting a big hole in a lifeboat and wounding four crew members.

The ship's owners said in Warsaw, however, that three sailors were killed. A spokesman for Poland's state-run Ocean Lines said the Joseph Conrad had been held in Haiphong since the harbor was mined by the United States several months ago and only a maintenance crew was aboard.

The Command gave no details on the second night of attacks on the Hanoi-Haiphong region, maintaining one of the densest news blackouts of the war. But U.S. officials said scores of B52s pounded the Hanoi-Haiphong corridor during the night, and there appeared to be no letup in the raids. Hundreds of fighter-bombers also are taking part.

Radio Hanoi said U.S. bombers "again bombed several densely populated areas of Hanoi and Haiphong."

Hanoi reiterated that the bombing, despite its devastation, would not force it to accept President Nixon's peace terms.

While the U.S. Command has refused to disclose any of the targets being attacked, other sources indicated they included radio transmitters, power stations and the two rail lines between Hanoi and China.

Some of the targets had never been attacked before, U.S. officials said.

The Goldsborough was hit as it was bombarding the coast just south of the 20th parallel. A spokesman said the ship "continued its combat mission" despite the casualties and damage.

Meanwhile, the South Vietnamese command reported more heavy fighting in Quang Tri Province below the demilitarized zone. A communique claimed South Vietnamese marines and paratroopers and U.S. fighter-bombers supporting them killed 154 North Vietnamese in two battles north and south of Quang Tri City. Eight South Vietnamese were killed and 48 wounded, the communique said.

Truman Remains Semiconscious; Medics Worried

KANSAS CITY (AP) — More poison is entering former President Harry S. Truman's blood stream, even though his kidney output is greater, doctors said today. He remains in very serious condition.

At a 10 a.m. EST briefing, the hospital reported Truman was somewhat less responsive during the night but that around 9:45 a.m. he became more alert. Doctors said his over-all condition was unchanged from

Tuesday and that he remained very serious.

A spokesman said Truman's kidney output for the past 24 hours was 645cc. A hospital spokesman quoted Dr. Wallace Graham, Truman's personal physician, as saying that more poison is entering the blood stream even though kidney output is greater.

His doctors have said that he cannot last indefinitely with his kidneys performing inadequately.

"He is on sort of a plateau," said John Dreves, the hospital spokesman. "The doctors say a person cannot stay this way indefinitely ... They can't keep them (patients) functioning ... without adequate kidney function."

The 88-year-old Truman was admitted to the hospital 16 days ago, suffering from lung congestion and bronchitis. His condition deteriorated as complications of age contributed to the problems of damaged kidneys and a weakened heart.

Doctors have described his condition as very serious for the last eight days.

Truman was reported comfortable and Dreves said, "He is slightly elevated, he moves his hands about and he follows people around with his eyes."

The failing kidneys were the major concern of Truman's doctors. Because of his weakened heart and the hardening of his arteries, caused by age, the kidneys were not receiving a sufficient supply of blood.

The 33rd president's daughter, Margaret Truman Daniel, returned Tuesday to her New York home. Dreves said he did not know whether she plans a return trip to Kansas City. Bess Truman, 87, visited her husband for about five hours Tuesday.

Sheriffs To Keep Pre-Trial Data

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Corrections officials today began telling Ohio's 88 county sheriffs to begin keeping records of pre-trial jail time for prisoners so it can be credited against their prison sentences if they are convicted.

The action came after Atty. Gen. William J. Brown indicated he would not appeal a recent federal court ruling which held that Ohio laws which deprive inmates of credit for pre-trial jail time even if they waited several months for trial are unconstitutional.

Apollo 17 Crewmen Rest On Ship; Head For Home

ABOARD USS TICONDEROGA (AP) — Back from the moon, their adventure behind them and history made, the men of the last Apollo are sailing toward home and a reunion with their families four days before Christmas.

The flight of the last, most perfect

Apollo mission is over, after a space journey of 13 days.

Apollo 17 astronauts Eugene A. Cernan, Ronald E. Evans and Harrison H. Schmitt rode the command ship America through a fiery entry into the earth's atmosphere Tuesday and a bobbing parachute fall to a perfect landing within sight of recovery ships.

Plucked from a life raft and whisked to this carrier by helicopter for a bands-and-speeches welcome, the astronauts spent their first hours back on earth undergoing physical examinations by a team of space agency doctors.

After a quick check, Dr. Charles K. LaPinta, the medical team leader, said, "I am very pleased with their condition -- they look fine."

Navy chefs aboard the Ticonderoga prepared a huge welcome-onboard cake and dinner in the officers' mess for the astronauts, the ship's officers and Navy brass and congressmen and senators on hand to watch the return of Apollo 17.

After a day and a night aboard the Ticonderoga, the astronauts will fly from the carrier to Pago Pago, in American Samoa. There they will board another plane for a flight to Ellington Air Force Base, near the Manned Spacecraft Center outside of Houston, Tex., where their families await them.

While the astronauts continued the cruise toward home, officials at the space center in Texas praised the flight as the most perfect of America's six moon landings.

"I've never seen a more perfect mission than was flown on this flight," said Dr. Christopher C. Kraft, director of the Manned Spacecraft Center. "Certainly that crew was the best crew we've ever flown."

In a statement on the completion of Apollo, President Nixon said the flight "marks the end of one of the most significant chapters in the history of human endeavor."

Deputy Foils Holdup At Gas Station

An attempted robbery at a downtown Circleville service station 1:45 a.m. Wednesday was thwarted when a Sheriff's cruiser pulled into the station for gasoline.

Deputy Sheriff Phil Brown pulled his cruiser into the Clark Station, 215 W. Main St., as Roger Hill, 22, Route 4, was attempting to hold up the station attendant, Don C. Artrip.

Hill fled when he spotted the cruiser but Brown jumped from the car and apprehended him at the corner of Main St. and Western Ave.

Brown called Sgt. Jerry Smallwood of the Circleville police and Hill was booked at the police station on a charge of assault with intent to rob. Bond was set at $5,000 and Hill appeared in Circleville Municipal Court 10 a.m. Wednesday. He pled not guilty and was released on a $2,500 recognizance bond. He will appear in municipal court on Dec. 28.

Artrip told the officers that Hill came into the station with his hand in his coat pocket and demanded money from him. When a car came into the station for gasoline, Hill walked to the pump with Artrip while he serviced the car. After the car left, Hill struck Artrip in the face and again demanded the money.

But the sheriff's cruiser arrived on the scene and the robbery attempt was thwarted.

miles southeast of Samoa was like the rest of the mission since launch — flawless.

A team of recovery experts helped to unload the command ship America after it too was hoisted aboard the Ticonderoga. Among its cargo were 259 pounds of moon rock — more than returned on any previous lunar mission — and about 3,000 photos taken on the moon by Cernan and Schmitt.

Also on board the America were almost two miles of film taken by Evans from lunar orbit as Cernan and Schmitt walked the dusty surface of the moon below.

ROUNDTOWN

BERGER Hospital has been bulging at the seams with patients recently and many times beds have been set up in the halls because all rooms have been filled. Yesterday Mrs. Frank Barnhill Jr., wife of the mayor, was admitted, and is bunking in the hall until a room becomes available.

WREATHS decorating the front of the City Building were the donation of Mr. and Mrs. Keith Wagner to help beautify the structure and put it in the proper Christmas spirit.

CHRISTMAS spirit was noticeably lacking at the meeting of city council Tuesday night ... Stern, frowning and otherwise glum faces were apparent on every member and the clerk, Robert Shadley, was nominated by Mayor Barnhill as "Scrooge" after Shadley objected to conversation in the gallery as he was reading notes of the previous council meeting.

WINS TRIP—Mr. and Mrs. Ernest "Bud" Enoch, Route 1, show Pickaway County Agent George Hamrick the itinerary of their trip to Europe March 7-20. Enoch is the winner of the 1972 Ohio Five Acre Soybean Efficiency Demonstration conducted by the Ohio Cooperative Extension Service. The trip is made possible by Elanco Company, manufacturers of a soybean herbicide.

City Council Holds 1973 Budget Over To New Year

City Council, holding its last meeting of 1972, postponed action on two important ordinances—including the 1973 budget—until January.

At the request of Councilman Robert Kenworthy, the budget was held to second reading as presented Dec. 5 so he and other council members might have time to fully cover the proposed expenditures for the next fiscal term.

Because the budget was not approved, several ordinances calling for a raise for some city employees in 1973 were tabled.

Mayor Frank Barnhill addressed the council to urge them to action soon on the money bill. Until a pay scale for 1973 was definitely established by the budget's passage or rejection, Barnhill noted, the Civil Service Commission would not be able to arrange a test date. This is due, according to the Mayor, to a requirement that the Commission advertise the salary offered in the jobs.

At present, the city needs additional police officers to bring the force up to strength and has authorized an increase of three men in the fire department.

When questions were raised on an ordinance authorizing an increase in sanitary sewer rates, Councilman Dave Crawford withdrew the paper and advised his fellow members to meet with Public Utilities Director Chuck Taylor for a full explanation of the ordinance.

Mayor Barnhill noted that any postponement of the ordinance's passage would hold up construction of the new sewage treatment plant.

According to the mayor, the new rates were figured by Floyd G. Brown, consulting engineers, to allow the city to repay money borrowed to construct the new installation.

Three bills were passed to amend 1972 appropriations and allow the city auditor to pay current bills for the year in the Municipal Court and City Police Department for supplies, equipment maintenance and incidentals.

After holding the amended franchise ordinance sought by Multichannel Cable TV company to a second reading, council approved corrections of several matters previously approved. The changes were authorized to correct incorrect phrases or deletions in the wording of the bills.

Members repealed action taken at the last meeting authorizing borrowing of $50,000 to finance the Nicholas Drive improvement, and passed new legislation deleting an incorrect phrase in the original document referring to current revenue and make it read "in anticipation of issuance of bonds."

They also passed a bill authorizing the transfer of $19,000 from the Nicholas Drive Improvement Fund to the Property Acquisition Fund in that account to settle the purchase of the Lulu M. Conkle real estate. Crawford indicated the sale would be completed next week.

City fathers voted to confirm reappointment of George Fissel to the Public Utilities Board. His new term will expire in December, 1978.

School crossing signs have been installed at Mound Street elementary, Kenworthy reported. The signs were purchased as a project of the Mound St. PTA.

Absent from the two-hour session last night was Ben Gordon, councilman-at-large, who is vacationing.

In addition to Councilmen Kenworthy and Crawford, also present were Dave Goldschmidt, Harold Hoffman, Gladden Troutman and Keith Wagner, and President Joe Bell. In attendance also were Robert Shadley, clerk; Mayor Frank Barnhill; Safety Director Ed Ebert and Service Director Woody Jones.

Two Are Wounded In Shootout, Chase On Airport Field

NEW YORK (AP) — A young man, taken aside after an airport X-ray machine spotted a "questionable object" in his briefcase, shot a sky marshal and a customs agent today and then was captured in a chase onto the Kennedy Airport field, an airport spokesman said.

An examination later showed the attache case contained a spiral notebook, according to police.

The sky marshal and the customs security man were reported in satisfactory condition at Peninsula General Hospital in Queens. They were shot when the man grabbed one of their guns, the spokesman said.

The hospital identified the sky marshal as Anthony Petrucci Jr., 34, of Bloomfield, N.J., and the customs man as Gerald T. McCarthy, 41, of Commack, N.Y.

The young man was identified tentatively as Robert J. Dobbelaer.

The airport spokesman said Dobbelaer was preparing at 7:55 a.m. to board a flight for San Juan at Gate 4 of the Pan American World Airways passenger terminal when an X-ray machine spotted what "appeared to have a questionable object inside."

The agents then took the man from Gate 4 to another gate without passengers, "where they prepared to search him," the spokesman continued.

At that, he grabbed one agent's gun and shot them both, then ran onto the rainsoaked tarmac, the spokesman said.

He also dropped the briefcase, the gun and other baggage he was carrying, according to a Pan American spokesman.

Two policemen from the New York Port Authority airport squad captured him.

One of the wounded men was shot in the leg and the other in the groin.

The Pan American spokesman said that "at this point there is no indication that the man was a skyjacker or was carrying any explosives."

Martial Law Curbs Eased

MANILA (AP) — President Ferdinand E. Marcos today suspended some of his martial law restrictions until Jan. 15 to encourage "free and open" public debate on the new constitution he is sponsoring, Information Secretary Francisco S. Tatad announced.

Tatad said there will be "no censorship of any kind" and presses now permitted to operate will be "allowed to print all forms of propaganda whether for or against the constitution." Rallies, meetings and public debates on the constitution will also be allowed, he said.

However, newspapers and broadcasting stations closed by the government during the martial law period cannot reopen. The midnight-to-4 a.m. curfew also remains in effect.

The new constitution, which was adopted by a convention recently, will be submitted to a plebiscite on Jan. 15. It replaces the present American-type system of an executive branch separate from the legislative with a parliamentary system on the order of Britain's in which the majority in the legislature will elect a prime minister to head the government.

NEW YORK (AP) — Bluechip issues were recovering today from the impact of this week's setbacks to hopes for a quick Vietnam peace settlement. However, the rest of the stock market remained weak.

The noon Dow Jones average of 30 industrial stocks was up 0.90 to 1010.08. The industrial average, made up of the stock prices of 30 of the country's largest corporations, had plunged 13.99 points at the close Monday and 4.07 Tuesday after the stalemate of peace negotiations and the resumption of heavy U.S. bombing of North Vietnam.

Despite the Dow's improvement today, declining issues still outnumbered gainers 649 to 538 on the Big Board, with 1,620 issues exchanged in moderate trading.

The New York Stock Exchange index of some 1,400 common stocks was up 0.08 to 63.71, and the Amex pricechange index unchanged at 26.33.

GTE Announces Plans For Capital Expansion

The continuation of programs to reduce party lines and provide for growth is highlighted in a $72,856,000 construction budget for 1973, it was announced today by General Telephone Co. of Ohio and Northern Ohio Telephone Co.

The outlay is part of a 1973-1976 capital expansion plan that will total almost $300 million, said Robert M. Wopat of Marion, president of both companies. The 1973 figure is 17.5 per cent higher than the 1972 budget.

Headquartered in Marion, the companies are subsidiaries of General Telephone & Electronics Corp. (GTE), New York. They serve about 675,000 phones in some 800 communities throughout 79 of Ohio's 88 counties.

The dollars will take the form of new buildings, call-switching equipment, expanded cable networks, new instruments and other communications equipment.

Wopat said a chief challenge will be to meet new party-line requirements by Dec. 31, 1976. This new standard, affecting all phone companies, was issued September, 1971 by the Public Utilities Commission of Ohio.

Also facing the companies are rising costs, changes in technology and the need to maintain adequate earnings.

Financing the construction program will be accomplished largely by borrowing on short-term notes, he said. Permanent financing later will be achieved through sale of securities, such as bonds and common stock.

Construction in 1973 actually will be a continuation of programs started in 1972. The party-line reduction program has been beefed up to comply with the PUCO standard.

During the 1973-1976 period an estimated $60 million of the $300 million figure will be put into new facilities in connection with party-line improvement.

The 1971 PUCO order called for completion of the party-line reduction by yearend 1976. It will restrict new installations to two-party residential and one-party business lines in urban areas. Rural service is to be limited to five-party residential and two-party business. (General and Northern will exceed the PUCO standard by setting four-party lines as the limit for rural residential service.)

In addition to party-line work, the companies plan major expansion of facilities for each of the 23 long distance centers served. Interexchange and local call-handling equipment is earmarked for expansion in a majority of exchanges.

Four long distance centers will be converted to direct distance dialing in 1973. They are Cadiz, Cambridge, Circleville and Oxford. Three toll centers are to be modified for single-digit access to DDD — Ashland, Bowling Green and Port Clinton.

Haig Meets With Laos Officials

BANGKOK, Thailand (AP) — Gen. Alexander M. Haig Jr., special emissary of President Nixon, arrived in Bangkok from Vientiane today to brief Thai leaders on the latest Paris Vietnam peace talks.

Haig will meet Field Marshal Thanom Kittikachorn, the premier of Thailand; his deputy, Gen. Praphas Charusathien; and the chief of staff of the supreme command, Air Marshal Dawee Chullasapaya Thursday morning, U.S. official sources said.

Haig flew to Bangkok from Vientiane, where he briefed the Laotian premier, Prince Souvanna Phouma.

The stop in Bangkok completes Haig's Asian tour. He held two meetings with President Nguyen Van Thieu in Saigon and met for three hours Tuesday with President Lon Nol of Cambodia.

Haig and Thieu reviewed in detail the draft peace agreement Henry A. Kissinger and Le Duc Tho of North Vietnam worked out in October and the changes which have been made or proposed in subsequent negotiations. No information was available on what Haig and Thieu said to each other.

Nationwide Cuts Rates

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Nationwide Mutual Insurance Co. announced today a statewide 6.6 per cent reduction in rates for private passenger cars and attributed it to lower accident claims.

The decrease is effective Feb. 1, and will save the owners of about 600,000 cars an estimated $6 million a year, said Nationwide president John E. Fisher.

Nationwide Mutual is the state's largest auto insurer, handling about 11 per cent of the state's total. Fisher said the upcoming rate cut is the first across-the-board made by the firm since 1962. However, it made "selective" reductions last October to allow for a 10 per cent bumper reduction for 1973 cars.

for some hard-nosed checking by a new assistant secretary of agriculture expected to be named soon by the White House.

Department sources say Clayton Yeutter, who ramrodded farm-belt election strategy for President Nixon, will be named shortly to the job, succeeding Richard E. Lyng.

Yeutter, 42, is Nebraska-farm bred and educated, holds degrees in law and agricultural economics and is considered by administration people to be a tough-minded administrator with little sympathy for bureaucratic bumbling.

Two years ago, Yeutter was named by then Agriculture Secretary Clifford M. Hardin, a fellow Nebraskan, to head what was called the Consumer and Marketing Service in USDA.

Yeutter helped reorganize the meat- and poultry-inspection program and pushed hard to get more and better people in the important consumer agency.

He left late last year to direct farm operations for the Committee for the Re-election of the President. The old C&MS which he headed later was reorganized still further to separate regulatory functions from other programs.

Lyng is considered by subordinates to be an able assistant secretary and one of the best liked men at the top of the USDA hierarchy.

Lyng, according to friends, has wanted to quit his post for some time. But he has been offered another job in the administration and may choose to stay in government—although, according to the sources, not in the Agriculture Department.

Other appointments also are expected soon from the White House, including the filling of the new post of assistant secretary of agriculture for rural development. The job was authorized by Congress this year in a package of rural-development legislation.

The new subcommittee job is expected to be filled by William Erwin, a native of Indiana, who has been deputy undersecretary for rural development since last February.

Rural-development functions of USDA currently are overseen by Asst. Secretary Thomas K. Cowden who, the White House said last week, will get another job.

Two Injured In 3-Car Accident

Two motorists were taken to Mt. Carmel Hospital Tuesday following an early afternoon accident on Route 62 at Cramer Road.

Highway Patrolman Dale Cline reported that Delbert D. Washburn, 20, of Bloomingburg and Ruby E. Keller, 49, of Washington C. H. were treated at Mt. Carmel Hospital after the 1:45 p.m. crash yesterday. Washburn complained of neck injuries and abdominal pains and Keller suffered lacerations about the mouth and other visible injuries.

Washburn was headed north on the highway when he stopped for a vehicle ahead which had stopped to make a left turn. His car was struck in the rear by the Keller vehicle. A third driver, Harry D. Rolfe, 23, of Mt. Sterling, swerved right to avoid impact, but caught the right rear corner of the Keller auto.

Ptl. Cline is still investigating the accident.

Speakers Address Club On Reform Of Prisons

Circleville Kiwanis members hosted Dennis Forney and John Gay, members of Concern, Incorporated, at their meeting Monday night.

Gay and Forne represent the organization formed by inmates of the Chillicothe Correctional Institution and business and professional people who are working to bridge the gap between convicts and the free society. A strong emphasis is placed by the group on prison reform.

John Ratterman, on behalf of the Boys and Girls Committee, presented a $100 check to Harold Hewitt, director of the Pickaway County YMCA. The money is to be used to purchase new athletic equipment.

Other guests for the evening were Harold Hosler, of the Ashville Kiwanis, Harold Hewitt and Mark Downing. Key Club members present were John Dowler, Steve Stocklin and Fred Mavis.

There will be no meetings held Dec. 25 or Jan. 1. Members are asked to please sign in at Defenbaugh Funeral Home on those dates.

Markets

NEW YORK (AP) — Bluechip issues were recovering today from the impact of this week's setbacks to hopes for a quick Vietnam peace settlement. However, the rest of the stock market remained weak.

The noon Dow Jones average of 30 industrial stocks was up 0.90 to 1010.08. The industrial average, made up of the stock prices of 30 of the country's largest corporations, had plunged 13.99 points at the close Monday and 4.07 Tuesday after the stalemate of peace negotiations and the resumption of heavy U.S. bombing of North Vietnam.

Despite the Dow's improvement today, declining issues still outnumbered gainers 649 to 538 on the Big Board, with 1,620 issues exchanged in moderate trading.

The New York Stock Exchange index of some 1,400 common stocks was up 0.08 to 63.71, and the Amex pricechange index unchanged at 26.33.

GTE Announces Plans For Capital Expansion

The continuation of programs to reduce party lines and provide for growth is highlighted in a $72,856,000 construction budget for 1973, it was announced today by General Telephone Co. of Ohio and Northern Ohio Telephone Co.

The outlay is part of a 1973-1976 capital expansion plan that will total almost $300 million, said Robert M. Wopat of Marion, president of both companies. The 1973 figure is 17.5 per cent higher than the 1972 budget.

Headquartered in Marion, the companies are subsidiaries of General Telephone & Electronics Corp. (GTE), New York. They serve about 675,000 phones in some 800 communities throughout 79 of Ohio's 88 counties.

The dollars will take the form of new buildings, call-switching equipment, expanded cable networks, new instruments and other communications equipment.

Wopat said a chief challenge will be to meet new party-line requirements by Dec. 31, 1976. This new standard, affecting all phone companies, was issued September, 1971 by the Public Utilities Commission of Ohio.

Also facing the companies are rising costs, changes in technology and the need to maintain adequate earnings.

Financing the construction program will be accomplished largely by borrowing on short-term notes, he said. Permanent financing later will be achieved through sale of securities, such as bonds and common stock.

Construction in 1973 actually will be a continuation of programs started in 1972. The party-line reduction program has been beefed up to comply with the PUCO standard.

During the 1973-1976 period an estimated $60 million of the $300 million figure will be put into new facilities in connection with party-line improvement.

The 1971 PUCO order called for completion of the party-line reduction by yearend 1976. It will restrict new installations to two-party residential and one-party business lines in urban areas. Rural service is to be limited to five-party residential and two-party business. (General and Northern will exceed the PUCO standard by setting four-party lines as the limit for rural residential service.)

In addition to party-line work, the companies plan major expansion of facilities for each of the 23 long distance centers served. Interexchange and local call-handling equipment is earmarked for expansion in a majority of exchanges.

Four long distance centers will be converted to direct distance dialing in 1973. They are Cadiz, Cambridge, Circleville and Oxford. Three toll centers are to be modified for single-digit access to DDD — Ashland, Bowling Green and Port Clinton.

Haig Meets With Laos Officials

BANGKOK, Thailand (AP) — Gen. Alexander M. Haig Jr., special emissary of President Nixon, arrived in Bangkok from Vientiane today to brief Thai leaders on the latest Paris Vietnam peace talks.

Haig will meet Field Marshal Thanom Kittikachorn, the premier of Thailand; his deputy, Gen. Praphas Charusathien; and the chief of staff of the supreme command, Air Marshal Dawee Chullasapaya Thursday morning, U.S. official sources said.

Haig flew to Bangkok from Vientiane, where he briefed the Laotian premier, Prince Souvanna Phouma.

The stop in Bangkok completes Haig's Asian tour. He held two meetings with President Nguyen Van Thieu in Saigon and met for three hours Tuesday with President Lon Nol of Cambodia.

Haig and Thieu reviewed in detail the draft peace agreement Henry A. Kissinger and Le Duc Tho of North Vietnam worked out in October and the changes which have been made or proposed in subsequent negotiations. No information was available on what Haig and Thieu said to each other.

Nationwide Cuts Rates

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Nationwide Mutual Insurance Co. announced today a statewide 6.6 per cent reduction in rates for private passenger cars and attributed it to lower accident claims.

The decrease is effective Feb. 1, and will save the owners of about 600,000 cars an estimated $6 million a year, said Nationwide president John E. Fisher.

Nationwide Mutual is the state's largest auto insurer, handling about 11 per cent of the state's total. Fisher said the upcoming rate cut is the first across-the-board made by the firm since 1962. However, it made "selective" reductions last October to allow for a 10 per cent bumper reduction for 1973 cars.

CONCERN, INC. — Guest speakers at the Kiwanis meeting Monday night were Dennis Forney, left, and John Gay, right, representing Concern, Incorporated. The organization was formed by inmates of the Chillicothe Correctional Institution and business and professional people working to aid persons in Ohio's penal institutions. Dr. Robert Liggett, center, introduced the speakers to Kiwanians.

Speakers Address Club On Reform Of Prisons

Circleville Kiwanis members hosted Dennis Forney and John Gay, members of Concern, Incorporated, at their meeting Monday night.

Gay and Forne represent the organization formed by inmates of the Chillicothe Correctional Institution and business and professional people who are working to bridge the gap between convicts and the free society. A strong emphasis is placed by the group on prison reform.

John Ratterman, on behalf of the Boys and Girls Committee, presented a $100 check to Harold Hewitt, director of the Pickaway County YMCA. The money is to be used to purchase new athletic equipment.

Other guests for the evening were Harold Hosler, of the Ashville Kiwanis, Harold Hewitt and Mark Downing. Key Club members present were John Dowler, Steve Stocklin and Fred Mavis.

There will be no meetings held Dec. 25 or Jan. 1. Members are asked to please sign in at Defenbaugh Funeral Home on those dates.

EEC Trade Blocks

The complexities which have been built into the European Economic Community's protectionist tariffs and the very concept of the protective wall are coming under increasing fire from exporters outside the Common Market, including many from the United States.

With the formal addition of Britain, Ireland and Denmark to the community after the first of the year, those protective barriers will cover a wider scope. General trade talks scheduled for next year could be heated when the subject is reached, as it is certain to be.

An example of the involved restrictions are the more stringent quotas adopted by the six present members of the EEC on fruits and vegetables. The new protectionist device applies to grapes, tomatoes, cauliflower and peaches. It provides that imports may be shut off for a seven day period at any time domestic production creates a surplus.

Citrus fruits were excluded only because Britain buys these products from outside the community. Forcing higher prices at a time Britain is fighting inflation would have been ill-timed, but such restrictions could come later.

In addition, the EEC has special agreements with Mediterranean suppliers of fruits and vegetables which give them definite advantages over competitors in the United States. Thus, over U.S. objections, the community has adopted double standards of tariffs and quotas even among suppliers outside its own membership.

Such inequities go far beyond the original concept of the Common Market. Allowed to stand, in time they could become serious impediments to trade in many markets.

Today In History

Today is Wednesday, Dec. 20th, the 355th day of 1972. There are eleven days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history: On this date in 1813, the U.S. Congress established a system of internal revenue to raise money. On this date—

In 1582, the Gregorian calendar was adopted in France.

In 1790, the first successful cotton mill in the United States began operating at Pawtucket, R.I.

In 1803, a flag-raising ceremony at New Orleans marked the official transfer of the Louisiana purchase from France to the United States.

In 1820, the state of Missouri levied a tax against bachelors—one dollar a year.

In 1860, South Carolina became the first state to secede from the union. In 1922, 14 republics of Russia formed the Union of Soviet Socialist Republics.

Ten years ago, the Dominican Republic held its first free election in 38 years.

Five years ago, Cuba's Prime Minister Fidel Castro conceded that his government was involved in disputes with the Soviet Union.

One year ago, President Nixon flew to Bermuda for talks with British Prime Minister Edward Heath.

Today's birthdays:

Sen. John J. Sparkman, D-Ala., is 73 years old. Former movie star Irene Dunn is 68. Bob Hayes of the Dallas Cowboys football team is 30.

Thought for today: Too bad you can't invest in taxes—they are the only thing sure to go up. Anonymous.

Speaking Of Your Health

by Lester L. Coleman, M.D.

Physicians are now carefully scrutinizing the reasons some people simply cannot lose weight on any regime... and why so many who do lose weight eventually regain it.

The problem of obesity is finally recognized as far more complex than has ever been thought.

While calories do count if a weight loss is to happen, other aspects of obesity long overlooked may hold some answers for the permanent loss of weight.

It has been shown in experimental animals and in studies of people of normal weight that when they are deliberately overfed for a period of time they will, of course, gain weight.

When the regular diet is resumed these subjects will return to their normal weight.

Research scientists have shown, moreover, that if these same subjects are fed a low calorie, almost-starvation diet they, too, will return to normal weight when the starvation regime is over.

A group of researchers at the University of Pennsylvania headed by Dr. Henry A. Jordan, believes that overweight people do not return in a similar way to their normal weight.

A deduction from the studies is that the longer a person has been overweight the more difficult it is to lose weight and the more difficult it is for him to maintain that weight loss.

Dr. Jordan believes, too, that there is an underlying genetic tendency in some people to overweight. This is made worse by the family patterns of eating.

This should not be totally discouraging to overweight people. Rather, it should offer an explanation for some of the difficulties they may be having in maintaining weight loss, and give them the courage to work harder on their weight reduction program.

No single diet is the answer to everyone's obesity problems. No single behavioral or psychological answer can apply to all.

If every overweight person is forced into a fixed pattern, a large percentage of failures must inevitably result.

Crash diets, which represent a quick weight loss, usually give short-lived benefits. It is obvious to obese people that the underlying reasons for their overweight must be examined and treated if a weight loss is to be attained and maintained.

Temporary weight loss may be an artificial one because it does not really attack the basic body function and emotional stresses that play such an important role in the accumulation of extra pounds.

The effort to control weight often dominates the entire existence of people who concentrate their attention on it. They flit from program to program. They change diets as often as they are created. Yet many of their time-and-energy-exhausting efforts fail to attend the basic physical, emotional and social reasons for their chronic source of defeat.

Reform Study Needed

By JOHN CHAMBERLAIN

My fellow columnist, Tom Wicker, who weeps very easily, is forever writing about the need to abolish our prison system. We can say yes, our prisons are "corrective" institutions that do not correct. Felons pass through them and go out on to the streets to become felons again. Criminals supposedly learn vocations behind bars and promptly forget them in the outside world. But what do you do about people who are real menaces to society? Where, as Max Wylie asks in his book about prisons, "400 Miles From Harlem," do you find a therapist who "can tidy up Charles Manson?" Or a group of doctors who can "reassemble" the double-Y chromosomes of Richard Speck? You can re-baptize jails as hospitals, but does a shift in nomenclature really alter things?

I wouldn't know how to change Attica or the New York Toms overnight, or even after a thousand and one nights. Tom Wicker has never enlightened me. But David Linowes, an international certified public accountant who is trying to persuade governmental units to apply "socio-economic audits" to verify whether public programs accomplish their objectives, offers an insight that might turn "correction" into real correction. As chairman of the Civil Affairs Committee of the New York Chamber of Commerce he has been working on a prison reform program that would make "rehabilitation of the offender" a critical standard of the "value of what we get for our money." Private businesses use "control and evaluative" policies to test what they do, so why shouldn't government take a page out of a well-thumbed book of experience that is known to most business executives?

Mr. Linowes is perfectly aware that prisons, as presently constituted, do provide educational opportunities. Even at Attica, where the riots occurred, anybody can learn a trade if he is so minded. Max Wylie's book lists the "shops" inside Attica. There is a metal shop that enlists the energies of 400 prisoners. Other shops teach painting, roofing, electrical repair, plumbing, shoemaking, spot-welding, tailoring, and laundry work. So why don't released prisoners use their acquired skills in civil life? Wylie surmises that the "emotional level" of ex-cons remains below the 15-year level. Pre-adolescents aren't known for their love of steady work.

Mr. Linowes, however, thinks something might be done to make prisoners into responsible post-adolescent beings. He has recently returned from a trip to Australia, a continent-wide nation of 13,000,000 that began as a penal colony. It was not an organized "Corrective" institution like Attica Prison in upper New York State. Transported convicts were simply turned loose in a bit of real estate that was guarded on its periphery, and told to pioneer. If they could not take care of themselves in a larger territory they were shuttled off to a smaller enclave that is still called by its original name, Pinchgut Island. In time the convicts who had survived the cat-o'-nine-tails and similar punishment on the transport ships became self-sufficient and socially minded citizens of a new commonwealth.

Briefly, Mr. Linowes' proposition is to set up our prisons on sufficient acreage to support miniature Australias. (Since the Federal Government owns some 25 per cent of the land in America, that wouldn't be difficult.) He would let the prisoners elect their own mayors and legislatures, organize their own police systems, and run their own farms and industries. It would cost something, and there would still be the need for surveillance. Murderers with deficient chromosome arrangements could not be allowed to run loose even inside a prison-republic. But the prison-republic could make allowance for hospitalization within itself. Mr. Linowes contends that self-government and limited private enterprise might work for American prisoners as they once worked for Australian convicts. At the very least he has come up with something that is original, which is better than weeping about the "cons" and saying they shouldn't be sent to jail in the first place.

Mr. Linowes' idea for testing the "Socio-economic management" of our prisons is merely one phase of his larger proposal, which is to apply a "Socio-economic audit" to all our government programs. President Nixon's Haldeman-Ehrlichman team, please take notice. The man has a valid idea.

The Circleville Chamber of Commerce announced the 1957 Christmas Decoration Contest. Any house or lawn with outside decoration was eligible. Decorations were to be up by December 23 with prizes of $25, $10 and $5 going to the first, second and third place houses. This project was conducted annually to encourage the citizens of Circleville to brighten up the community during the Christmas season.

Ray W. Davis, 53, of 120 Montclair Ave., took out a petition for candidacy for Pickaway County Prosecutor. Davis was serving the county in the position by appointment of Common Pleas Judge William Ammer, whom he succeeded when Ammer took the bench.

A total of 7,058 city and county students began a 12-day vacation on Friday, December 20. All of the county schools with the exception of St. Joseph reopened school on January 2. St. Joseph began classes on January 6.

Free Parking was available at the new Franklin St. Parking lot for all Christmas shoppers. The Circleville Parking lot Corp. asked all employees to refrain from using the lot during the Christmas rush.

Propane Obtained For Indiana Grain

FORT WAYNE, Ind. (AP) — U.S. Rep. Elwood H. Hillis of Kokomo told 5th District news media Tuesday the Office of Emergency Preparedness had informed him an adequate supply of propane gas has been obtained for Indiana grain dryers.

Hillis said the federal agency reported a supply of the gas had been located in Texas and will be hauled to Indiana in 500 railroad cars.

The gas has been in short supply in Indiana because of the necessity of drying corn and soybeans soaked by repeated rains this fall.

NEW YORK (AP) — While the nation continues to wage what appears to be a winning battle against inflation, the prices of some basic commodities are advancing strongly and ominously.

If the trend continues it will be revealed to the consumer in the form of higher prices in 1973 for many essential items of food and clothing — items that cannot be boycotted or whose purchase cannot long be postponed.

In all likelihood the price rise for the basic ingredients of thousands of retail products has already been a factor in the administration's decision to seek an extension of price and wage controls beyond April 30.

If the trend continues it could conceivably force the administration into a stiffer attitude on inflation and controls.

Among the items whose prices are either rising or likely to head that way are cattle, hogs, grains, cotton and wool, all of which have become staples in the American diet or way of life.

Recording the surge, The Associated Press wholesale price index of 35 commodities reached an all-time high of 232.28 last week, a gain of 14 points in just one month.

Last week the price of wheat at Kansas City reached $2.58 a bushel, or 98 cents a bushel higher than a year ago. Cotton, which sold for 25.4 cents a pound a month ago is now two cents higher than that.

The factors underlying the advances are as disparate and unrelated as adverse weather, foreign policy, and the recurring imbalances in the market due to various decisions of producers and buyers.

Most people are familiar with the cause of the grain price increase. Severe shortages in the Soviet Union caused them to buy massively from U.S. stocks. Purchases by Mainland China followed. It was a matter of demand-supply.

In the case of corn and cotton, the advance resulted from scarcities due primarily to an overabundance of rain than rotten crops or delayed their harvest.

According To Boyle

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — Christmas has always been an unforgettable day.

The commercialization of the holiday among grownups is of fairly recent vintage. But in the pirate heart of childhood, Christmas was always a something-for-nothing, grab-bag-for-everybody day. That is why Santa Claus is so popular with children. He is the most giving as well as forgiving saint in the calendar.

Every heart has its favorite Christmases. But you have a better perspective on the whole holiday picture if you can look back to Christmases past and remember when You were told that if you were a bad boy or girl Santa Claus would leave a lump of coal in your stocking. But few parents actually were mean or thoughtless enough actually to play this prank on their children.

Candles were used instead of electric lights on Christmas trees, and the season was marred by scores of tragic deaths across the nation when the candles set the drying trees aflame.

Every child looked forward to getting a bright golden orange in his stocking, along with apples and nuts and candy. Fresh oranges today are taken for granted around the year, but a half century or so ago, they were rare and delightful treats during the winter.

Although Christmas decorations in some homes were just as ornate as those now, most families couldn't afford many of the delicate Christmas balls from Czechoslovakia. A majority of the trees were decorated with homemade tinfoil stars, tinsel cut from the tinfoil in cigarette packets, and strands of beaded popcorn and cranberries.

Fifty years ago the most popular children's presents were sleds for the boys and dolls for the girls. Some of the dolls could close their eyes if you tilted them, but they didn't walk, talk, or moisten their diapers.

There was a rule of thumb about Christmas candy. No matter how much or how little you gave a child, in three days it would be all gone.

Children then enjoyed chewing dried fruits at holiday time. Imagine handing a modern child a package of dried apricots and telling him that was his reward for being a good boy! He'd think you were crazy — and when he told the neighbors, they'd think so, too.

Mother didn't get so much from Santa Claus in the old days. It was usually a scarf or a pair of gloves or a box of lace handkerchiefs, and Dad, then as now, counted himself lucky to get a new shirt, some socks, or a couple of neckties. Mother didn't mind getting a new household appliance for Christmas, but she never laughed very hard when her husband asked her if she'd like a new laundry board for Christmas.

That was what Christmas past was like — remember?

Campaign Contributor In Trouble

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP) — A top political contributor, W. T. Duncan of San Antonio, was sued Monday for $500,000.

Duncan and his wife were named defendants in a suit by N. M. Bunge of Evansville, Ind. Bunge was identified as the owner of a masonry contracting corporation.

Duncan contributed thousands of dollars first to the unsuccessful Democratic presidential nomination campaign of Sen. Hubert Humphrey of Minnesota and then to the campaign to re-elect Republican President Nixon.

At the time Duncan was listed as a heavy campaign contributor, it was reported later, he was also having financial difficulties.

The suit, filed in state district court here, alleged the Duncans delivered to Bunge a promissory note, dated July 30, 1971, for $500,000 with an annual interest rate of 8 per cent, payable in principle and interest one year later.

Bunge claimed the defendants have refused to pay the note.

A Page Of Opinion

EEC Trade Blocks

The complexities which have been built into the European Economic Community's protectionist tariffs and the very concept of the protective wall are coming under increasing fire from exporters outside the Common Market, including many from the United States.

With the formal addition of Britain, Ireland and Denmark to the community after the first of the year, those protective barriers will cover a wider scope. General trade talks scheduled for next year could be heated when the subject is reached as it is certain to be.

An example of the involved restrictions are the more stringent quotas adopted by the six present members of the EEC on fruits and vegetables. The new protectionist device applies to grapes, tomatoes, cauliflower and peaches. It provides that imports may be shut off for a seven day period at any time domestic production creates a surplus.

Citrus fruits were excluded only because Britain buys these products from outside the community. Forcing higher prices at a time Britain is fighting inflation would have been ill-timed, but such restrictions could come later.

In addition, the EEC has special agreements with Mediterranean suppliers of fruits and vegetables which give them definite advantages over competitors in the United States. Thus, over U.S. objections, the community has adopted double standards of tariffs and quotas even among suppliers outside its own membership.

Such inequities go far beyond the original concept of the Common Market. Allowed to stand, in time they could become serious impediments to trade in many markets.

Today In History

Today is Wednesday, Dec. 20th, the 355th day of 1972. There are eleven days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history:

On this date in 1813, the U.S. Congress established a system of internal revenue to raise money. On this date—

In 1582, the Gregorian calendar was adopted in France.

In 1790, the first successful cotton mill in the United States began operating at Pawtucket, R.I.

In 1803, a flag-raising ceremony at New Orleans marked the official transfer of the Louisiana purchase from France to the United States.

In 1820, the state of Missouri levied a tax against bachelors—one dollar a year.

In 1860, South Carolina became the first state to secede from the union. In 1922, 14 republics of Russia formed the Union of Soviet Socialist Republics.

Ten years ago, the Dominican Republic held its first free election in 38 years.

Five years ago, Cuba's Prime Minister Fidel Castro conceded that his government was involved in disputes with the Soviet Union.

One year ago, President Nixon flew to Bermuda for talks with British Prime Minister Edward Heath.

Today's birthdays:

Sen. John J. Sparkman, Ala., is 73 years old. Former movie star Irene Dunn is 68. Bob Hayes of the Dallas Cowboys football team is 30.

Thought for today: Too bad you can't invest in taxes—they are the only thing sure to go up. Anonymous.

Speaking Of Your Health

by Lester L. Coleman, M.D.

Physicians are now carefully scrutinizing the reasons some people simply cannot lose weight on any regime... and why so many who do lose weight eventually regain it.

The problem of obesity is finally recognized as far more complex than has ever been thought.

While calories do count if a weight loss is to happen, other aspects of obesity long overlooked may hold some answers for the permanent loss of weight.

It has been shown in experimental animals and in studies of people of normal weight that when they are deliberately overfed for a period of time they will, of course, gain weight.

When the regular diet is resumed these subjects will return to their normal weight.

Research scientists have shown, moreover, that if these same subjects are fed a low calorie, almost-starvation diet they, too, will return to normal weight when the starvation regime is over.

A group of researchers at the University of Pennsylvania headed by Dr. Henry A. Jordan, believes that overweight people do not return in a similar way to their normal weight. A deduction from the studies is that the longer a person has been overweight the more difficult it is to lose weight and the more difficult it is for him to maintain that weight loss.

Dr. Jordan believes, too, that there is an underlying genetic tendency in some people to overweight. This is made worse by the family patterns of eating.

This should not be totally discouraging to overweight people. Rather, it should offer an explanation for some of the difficulties they may be having in maintaining weight loss, and give them the courage to work harder on their weight reduction program.

No single diet is the answer to everyone's obesity problems. No single behavioral or psychological answer can apply to all.

If every overweight person is forced into a fixed pattern, a large percentage of failures must inevitably result.

Crash diets, which represent a quick weight loss, usually give short-lived benefits. It is obvious to obese people that the underlying reasons for their overweight must be examined and treated if a weight loss is to be attained and maintained.

Temporary weight loss may be an artificial one because it does not really attack the basic body function and emotional stresses that play such an important role in the accumulation of extra pounds.

The effort to control weight often dominates the entire existence of people who concentrate their attention on it. They flit from program to program. They change diets as often as they are created. Yet many of their time-and-energy-exhausting efforts fail to attend the basic physical, emotional and social reasons for their chronic source of defeat.

Reform Study Needed

By JOHN CHAMBERLAIN

My fellow columnist, Tom Wicker, who weeps very easily, is forever writing about the need to abolish our prison system. We can say yes, our prisons are "corrective" institutions that do not correct. Felons pass through them and go out on to the streets to become felons again. Criminals supposedly learn vocations behind bars and promptly forget them in the outside world. But what do you do about people who are real menaces to society? Where, as Max Wylie asks in his book about prisons, "400 Miles From Harlem," do you find a therapist who "can tidy up Charles Manson?" Or a group of doctors who can "reassemble" the double-Y chromosomes of Richard Speck? You can reassemble jails as hospitals, but does a shift in nomenclature really alter things?

They'll Do It Every Time

Dear Abby:

By Abigail Van Buren

Wife Gets Brush-Off

DEAR ABBY: Yesterday morning a brush salesman rang my bell and I invited him in because I wanted to see his catalog. (I have done business with this company for years, and they always gave me excellent service.)

During dinner, my husband asked me what my day was like and when I told him that I had invited this brush salesman into the house, he hit the roof, yelling and shouting that I was "no good" and had no right to have "other men" in our home while he was at work. He asked me how many other men I had let into the house and he went on and on like a madman. He even swore at me and called me terrible names.

I was so nervous and upset, I slept on the couch last night. My husband was angry and kept coming out, trying to get me to come to bed and have sex with him, but I was so upset, I just wanted to be left alone. Then he accused me of having sex with this brush salesman, and after that I just couldn't bring myself to give in to him.

Abby, I am a good, clean woman. I love the Lord and read my Bible every day. I pray and ask God's help in all I do, but I do not feel that God wants me to live this way. My husband is so jealous he has forbidden me to visit with my neighbors, and he wants no company in our home. I am 34 and he is 49 and we've been married for 10 years. We have no children because he has wanted none. What shall I do?

TORMENTED IN ALBUQUERQUE
DEAR TORMENTED: Your husband is a sick man. No rational man behaves this way. Insist that he see a doctor. If he refuses, go to your pastor and tell him your story. There is no reason for you to tolerate such abuse.

DEAR ABBY: I have lived with my daughter and her husband and their children for more than 20 years. (I am a widow.) Whenever they are invited to a dinner given by her in-laws, and my name is not mentioned in the conversation over the phone, I do not go. These in-laws insist that I am part of the family, and I don't require a special invitation, but I feel it's too much effort for them to say, "Bring Sarah," I am really not wanted.

A neighbor sent a graduation invitation to my daughter and her husband, addressed to "Mr. and Mrs. and Family." I didn't go. My daughter insisted that the "and family" included me. I say it meant her children as my name is entirely different from theirs, and if it was too much trouble to write my name on the envelope below my daughter's I stay home.

Do you think I am right or not?

HAVE FEELINGS TOO

DEAR HAVE: I think you are right. Merely sharing a home with your daughter does not automatically include you in her invitations. I hope you are doing all you can to develop a social life of your own. You will be much happier, and so will your daughter and son in law.

DEAR ABBY: I am a piano teacher and would like to know what I should say when people ask me how many pupils I have. It's a business with me and I feel it is nobody's business but my own how many pupils I have.

I don't want to seem rude, yet we teachers never ask that of each other. Thank you.

PIANO TEACHER

DEAR TEACHER: Simply smile and say, "Oh, that's classified information." (You can get away with almost anything if you're pleasant and good-humored about it.)

DEAR ABBY: I am a bald bachelor who is considering having a hair transplant because I think it will make me more appealing to women. Several of my male friends have told me that baldness is now considered a sign of virility and the blathered men all get the girls.

What is your understanding on the subject?

M.K.A.

DEAR M.K.A.: The hairier the man the more virile he appears, but hair has absolutely nothing to do with a man's sexual performance. There are plenty of men who have a head full of hair and all they get is dandruff.

Problems? Trust Abby. For a personal reply, write to AB-BY BOX, 69700, L.A. Calif., 90069 and enclose a stamped addressed envelope.

High Court Studies Pollution Law

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court has agreed to rule on the government's power to use a 19th century federal refuse law to bring criminal action against industrial polluters of the nation's navigable waters.

The government is seeking to overturn a decision by the U.S. Circuit Court in Philadelphia that limited the scope of the law. The Justice Department

In Triple Slaying

CINCINNATI (AP) — A court hearing has been continued until Jan. 9 for a 21-year-old man charged in the slaying of his parents and sister, and wounding of a policeman.

Judge Joseph Leubbers of Hamilton County Municipal Court granted the continuance Monday to Ronald Madden of suburban Loveland. He ordered Madden held without bond.

The bodies of Madden's parents, Delmar Madden, 45, and Darleen Madden, 47, and of his sister, Gwen, 18, were found on grounds of the family home Saturday.

INVITATION TO BIDDERS
Sealed bids will be received by the Pickaway County Commissioners in the Courthouse, Circleville, Ohio until 12:00 o'clock Noon, E.S.T. on the 27th day of December, 1972 and publicly opened and read at 1:30 P.M., E.S.T. the same day for the furnishing of labor, equipment and materials necessary to construct a ten unit aircraft hanger on the grounds of the Pickaway County Veterans Memorial Airport.

Sealed bids to be in accordance with the specifications, and instructions on file and available at the Pickaway County Commissioners Office in said Courthouse during regular office hours. Each bid must be accompanied by an acceptance bid bond or certified check as set forth in "Instructions to Bidders" and filed in a sealed envelope marked "Aircraft Hanger Bid." The Pickaway County Airport Authority reserves the right to reject any and all bids and any award will be made to the best bid according to law.

ment's appeal complained that the lower court had stood the law on its head and emasculated what Congress had in mind in 1899 when it prohibited dumping of all refuse except common liquid sewage into navigable waters.

The case concerns the conviction last year of the Pennsylvania Industrial Chemical Corp. for passing iron and aluminum solids and compounds into the Monongahela River. The firm was fined $10,000.

Last May, however, in a 2-1 ruling, the Philadelphia court said the firm was being punished for not obtaining a permit when no broad permit system existed. A new trial was ordered.

Since then, the U.S. Circuit Court in Boston has read the law the way the government prefers in the case of a Manchester, N.H., slaughtering plant convicted of polluting the Merrimack River. The Supreme Court evidently has decided to resolve the conflict in interpretations.

In other decisions before beginning a three-week holiday recess, the justices:

1. Ended compulsory chapel at the Army, Navy and Air Force academies by turning down a government appeal from a ruling by a lower court that the regulations violate the First Amendment's ban against establishment of religion. The government contended future officers required "an appreciation of our moral and religious heritage." The rejection was unanimous.

2. Broadly upheld the power of the states to regulate local operations of out-of-state firms. The 8-0 ruling approved South Carolina's assessment of $21,540 in income taxes against Heublein, Inc., a Connecticut liquor firm.

3. Agreed to decide whether the Interstate Commerce Commission should have fully considered the impact on the environment when it raised freight rates in a way that made it more expensive to ship scrap iron and steel destined for recycling.

4. Gave the government authority to check out the names of all contributors to a domestic organization allegedly linked to Irish insurgents. The vote was 6-3.

5. Rejected an appeal by former Louisiana Atty. Gen. Jack P. F. Gremillion, who was convicted of perjury to a federal grand jury investigating a bankrupt loan company. He faces three years in prison.

Road Toll For 1972 Worst Ever?

CHICAGO (AP) — The National Safety Council predicted Tuesday that 56,700 persons will be killed in traffic accidents in 1972, making the year the deadliest on record.

In making the projection based on 46,970 deaths for the first 10 months, a 4 per cent increase from last year, Howard Pyle, NSC president, said that two million persons will suffer disabling injuries in traffic mishaps and the cost injuries in traffic mishaps.

The previous deadliest year was 1969 when 56,000 persons were killed. The toll for 1971 was 54,700.

Contributing to the increased death rate, Pyle said, are:

—More drinking drivers, half of whom are involved in fatal accidents.

—A trend by states to lower the minimum drinking age to 18 an age at which youths are learning to drive as well as to drink.

—More motorcycles and minibikes in the hands of many unskilled operators.

—The bicycle boom with sale of 11.5 million in 1972 without necessary bicycle safety instructions.

Dear Abby:

By Abigail Van Buren

Wife Gets Brush-Off

DEAR ABBY: Yesterday morning a brush salesman rang my bell and I invited him in because I wanted to see his catalog. (I have done business with this company for years, and they always gave me excellent service.)

During dinner, my husband ask me what my day was like and when I told him that I had invited this brush salesman into the house, he hit the roof, yelling and shouting that I was "no good" and had no right to have "other men" in our home while he was at work. He asked me how many other men I had let into the house and he went on and on like a madman. He even swore at me and called me terrible names.

I was so nervous and upset, I slept on the couch last night. My husband was angry and kept coming out, trying to get me to come to bed and have sex with him, but I was so upset, I just wanted to be left alone. Then he accused me of having sex with this brush salesman, and after that I just couldn't bring myself to give in to him.

Abby, I am a good, clean woman. I love the Lord and read my Bible every day. I pray and ask God's help in all I do, but I do not feel that God wants me to live this way. My husband is so jealous he has forbidden me to visit with my neighbors, and he wants no company in our home. I am 34 and he is 49 and we've been married for 10 years. We have no children because he has wanted none. What shall I do?

TORMENTED IN ALBUQUERQUE

DEAR TORMENTED: Your husband is a sick man. No rational man behaves this way. Insist that he see a doctor. If he refuses, go to your pastor and tell him your story. There is no reason for you to tolerate such abuse.

DEAR ABBY: I have lived with my daughter and her husband and their children for more than 20 years. (I am a widow.) Whenever they are invited to a dinner given by her in-laws, and my name is not mentioned in the conversation over the phone, I do not go. These in-laws insist that I am part of the family, and I don't require a special invitation, but I feel if it's too much effort for them to say, "Bring Sarah," I am really not wanted.

A neighbor sent a graduation invitation to my daughter and her husband, addressed to "Mr. and Mrs. and Family." I didn't go. My daughter insisted that the "and family" included me. I say it meant her children as my name is entirely different from theirs, and if it was too much trouble to write my name on the envelope below my daughter's I stay home.

Do you think I am right or not?

HAVE FEELINGS TOO

DEAR HAVE: I think you are right.

Merely sharing a home with your daughter does not automatically include you in her invitations. I hope you are doing all you can to develop a social life of your own. You will be much happier, and so will your daughter and son in law.

DEAR ABBY: I am a piano teacher and would like to know what I should say when people ask me how many pupils I have. It's a business with me and I feel it is nobody's business but my own how many pupils I have.

I don't want to seem rude, yet we teachers never ask that of each other. Thank you.

PIANO TEACHER

DEAR TEACHER: Simply smile and say, "Oh, that's classified information." (You can get away with almost anything if you're pleasant and good-humored about it.)

DEAR ABBY: I am a bald bachelor who is considering having a hair transplant because I think it will make me more appealing to women. Several of my male friends have told me that baldness is now considered a sign of virility and the bladdered men all get the girls.

What is your understanding on the subject?

M.K.A.

DEAR M.K.A.: The hairier the man the more virile he appears, but hair has absolutely nothing to do with a man's sexual performance. There are plenty of men who have a head full of hair and all they get is dandruff.

Problems? Trust Abby. For a personal reply, write to AB-BY BOX, 69700, L.A. Calif., 90069 and enclose a stamped addressed envelope.

High Court Studies Pollution Law

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court has agreed to rule on the government's power to use a 19th century federal refuse law to bring criminal action against industrial polluters of the nation's navigable waters.

About 200 suits depend on the outcome of the case accepted Monday for review this spring.

The government is seeking to overturn a decision by the U.S. Circuit Court in Philadelphia that limited the scope of the law. The Justice Department

Hearing Continued

In Triple Slaying

CINCINNATI (AP) — A court hearing has been continued until Jan. 9 for a 21-year-old man charged in the slaying of his parents and sister, and wounding of a policeman.

Judge Joseph Leubbers of Hamilton County Municipal Court granted the continuance Monday to Ronald Madden of suburban Loveland. He ordered Madden held without bond.

The bodies of Madden's parents, Delmar Madden, 45, and Darleen Madden, 47, and of his sister, Gwen, 18, were found on grounds of the family home Saturday.

INVITATION TO BIDDERS

Sealed bids will be received by the Pickaway County Commissioners in the Courthouse, Circleville, Ohio until 12:00 o'clock Noon, E.S.T. on the 27th day of December, 1972 and publicly opened and read at 1:30 P.M., E.S.T. the same day for the furnishing of labor, equipment and materials necessary to construct a ten unit aircraft hanger on the grounds of the Pickaway County Veterans Memorial Airport.

Sealed bids to be in accordance with the specifications, and instructions on file and available at the Pickaway County Commissioners Office in said Courthouse during regular office hours. Each bid must be accompanied by an acceptance bid bond or certified check as set forth in "Instructions to Bidders" and filed in a sealed envelope marked "Aircraft Hanger Bid" in the Pickaway County Airport Authority reserves the right to reject any and all bids and any award will be made to the best bid according to law.

ment's appeal complained that the lower court had stood the law on its head and emasculated what Congress had in mind in 1899 when it prohibited dumping of all refuse except common liquid sewage into navigable waters.

The case concerns the conviction last year of the Pennsylvania Industrial Chemical Corp. for passing iron and aluminum solids and compounds into the Monongahela River. The firm was fined $10,000.

Last May, however, in a 2-1 ruling, the Philadelphia court said the firm was being punished for not obtaining a permit when no broad permit system existed. A new trial was ordered.

Since then, the U.S. Circuit Court in Boston has read the law the way the government prefers in the case of a Manchester, N.H., slaughtering plant convicted of polluting the Merrimack River. The Supreme Court evidently has decided to resolve the conflict in interpretations.

In other decisions before beginning a three-week holiday recess, the justices:

1. Ended compulsory chapel at the Army, Navy and Air Force academies by turning down a government appeal from a ruling by a lower court that the regulations violate the First Amendment's ban against establishment of religion. The government contended future officers required "an appreciation of our moral and religious heritage." The rejection was unanimous.

2. Broadly upheld the power of the states to regulate local operations of out-of-state firms. The 8-0 ruling approved South Carolina's assessment of $21,540 in income taxes against Heublein, Inc., a Connecticut liquor firm.

3. Agreed to decide whether the Interstate Commerce Commission should have fully considered the impact on the environment when it raised freight rates in a way that made it more expensive to ship scrap iron and steel destined for recycling.

4. Gave the government authority to check out the names of all contributors to a domestic organization allegedly linked to Irish insurgents. The vote was 6-3.

5. Rejected an appeal by former Louisiana Atty. Gen. Jack P. F. Gremillion, who was convicted of perjury to a federal grand jury investigating a bankrupt loan company. He faces three years in prison.

Church Circle Yule Party Held In Radcliffe Home

The home of Mrs. Clarence Radcliffe, 308 Northridge Road, was the setting for the December meeting and Christmas party of Circle 2, Good Shepherd United Methodist Church.

Twenty-two members and guests were served dinner at tables beautifully decorated in the holiday theme. At each place were favors of angel and Santa Claus candles.

Mrs. Radcliffe, circle leader, conducted the brief business meeting, opening with the reading, "Signs Of Christmas" and prayer. Notes were read from shut-in members.

Spiritual growth chairman, Mrs. Carl Wilson, read a brief article "Work And The Sabbath." She announced that the Key 73 pins are available and to order contact her or Mrs. Evelyn Dunkle, general chairman. Members were asked to remember the Wednesday evening study hour which is using the book of Luke as the subject. Mrs. Radcliffe closed the meeting with a thought concerning world peace.

Program leader, Mrs. Arthur K. Bowman, was assisted in the presentation of the program by each of the circle members.

Following a recording of "We Three Kings" scripture from Matthew, chapter 2 verses 9-11, was read by Mrs. Roy Groce. The story concerned a small wooden box, a special gift, given by one of the magi to Mary, the Christ Child's mother. It had been left with the instruction that it was to be opened only once a year, on the anniversary of his birth, and on every such occasion a new, special gift would be found.

The narrative continued with a new gift each year in the magic box, and as the miracle of Christmas continues down through the centuries, mankind has learned to know the true meaning of God's gift to the world, his only son. The magic of Christmas is for each of us to give, to reach out in love, in the Christ child's name, to help bring hope and joy to those in need and who feel only cold and loneliness.

The final gift of the magic box was the gift of peace as was recorded in the Scriptures, John 14, verse 27. Closing the program, all joined in singing the last two verses of "O, Little Town Of Bethlehem," followed with prayer by Mrs. Mazie Wilkins.

During the social hour, prayer partners were revealed and a gift exchange was enjoyed by members and guests, Mrs. Ralph DeLong and Miss Lydia DeLong.

New circles have been formed for the next two year period and January meeting dates will be announced by the respective circles.

Twenty-two members and guests were served dinner at tables beautifully decorated in the holiday theme. At each place were favors of angel and Santa Claus candles.

Mrs. Radcliffe, circle leader, conducted the brief business meeting, opening with the reading, "Signs Of Christmas" and prayer. Notes were read from shut-in members.

Spiritual growth chairman, Mrs. Carl Wilson, read a brief article "Work And The Sabbath." She announced that the Key 73 pins are available and to order contact her or Mrs. Evelyn Dunkle, general chairman. Members were asked to remember the Wednesday evening study hour which is using the book of Luke as the subject.

Mrs. Radcliffe closed the meeting with a thought concerning world peace. Program leader, Mrs. Arthur K. Bowman, was assisted in the presentation of the program by each of the circle members.

Following a recording of "We Three Kings" scripture from Matthew, chapter 2 verses 9-11, was read by Mrs. Roy Groce. The story concerned a small wooden box, a special gift, given by one of the magi to Mary, the Christ Child's mother. It had been left with the instruction that it was to be opened only once a year, on the anniversary of his birth, and on every such occasion a new, special gift would be found.

The narrative continued with a new gift each year in the magic box, and as the miracle of Christmas continues down through the centuries, mankind has learned to know the true meaning of God's gift to the world, his only son. The magic of Christmas is for each of us to give, to reach out in love, in the Christ child's name, to help bring hope and joy to those in need and who feel only cold and loneliness.

The final gift of the magic box was the gift of peace as was recorded in the Scriptures, John 14, verse 27. Closing the program, all joined in singing the last two verses of "O, Little Town Of Bethlehem," followed with prayer by Mrs. Mazie Wilkins.

During the social hour, prayer partners were revealed and a gift exchange was enjoyed by members and guests, Mrs. Ralph DeLong and Miss Lydia DeLong.

New circles have been formed for the next two year period and January meeting dates will be announced by the respective circles.

St. Joseph CCD Classes Present Christmas Program

The grade school children of St. Joseph's Confraternity of Christian Doctrine classes presented their Christmas program on Sunday. They chose "The Message Of The Bells" by Elizabeth Brown for their presentation. The ringing of bells at Christmas helps us to express the message of love, of joy and of peace that comes with celebration of our Lord's birth.

Mrs. James Butler and Mrs. James McConnell directed the preschool students in their singing of "Jingle Bells" and "Jesus Loves The Little Children." Mrs. Robert Monarski led the first and second graders in a

Mrs. Eugene Siniff Hosts Church Circle For Holiday Party

Circle 1 of Good Shepherd United Methodist Church was entertained at a Christmas meeting and party in the home of the leader, Mrs. Eugene Siniff, 385 Sunnyview Drive. The evening was highlighted by a smorgasbord prepared by the hostess.

Mrs. Siniff opened the business meeting by reading "Friendship Is A Gift." It was announced that beginning with the January meeting, new circles will have been organized. The meeting was closed with the reading "Friendship Is A Road."

Program leader, Mrs. Margaret Spradlin, used as her topic "Christmas In The News." A background of stereo music was enjoyed during comments by the leader. The Christmas story from Luke 2:6-16 was read by Mrs. Robert Dumm from "The Living Bible." Prayer was by Miss Lucille Kirkwood, general president.

A gift exchange completed the evening's activities attended by 11 members and three guests, Miss Kirkwood and her mother, Mrs. Orpha Kirkwood, and Kim Siniff.

Mrs. Paul Bowman Fetes Church Class

Santa Claus Finds Beard Bad In Sky

CHIPPING NORTON, England (AP) — The kids from the local children's home lined up in the field next door to watch Santa Claus parachute down with their gifts. But Cpl. George Shone of the Royal Signal Corps landed several miles away.

"My beard kept flapping into my face," he said Monday. "I couldn't see to steer the chute. I came down blind — it was one of the trickiest jumps I ever made."

Telephone Receiver

Used As Weapon

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP) — The phone book doesn't say what to do if two would-be robbers cut the receiver cord while you're trying to dial for help, so Nancy Jacobson improvised.

The 20-year-old, 124-pound clerk for a combination dry cleaning store-gas station clobbered the two masked intruders with the phone receiver Monday night and sent them fleeing.

Mrs. William Robertson Entertains Garden Club

Mrs. William Robertson, Route 5, entertained pickaway County Garden Club members in her home on Tuesday evening. Assisting hostesses were: Mrs. Willson Leist, Mrs. Lawrence Johnson, Mrs. Emmett Barnhart, Mrs. W. E. Defenbaugh and Mrs. Robert Steele.

35th Anniversary To Be Celebrated On Christmas Day

Mr. and Mrs. Willard Gaines, 717 E. Mound St., will be hosts for a family dinner in their home on Christmas Day. They will also be celebrating their 35th Wedding Anniversary.

Ethel Stonerock, daughter of Mrs. Emma Stonerock and the late Mr. Lawrence Stonerock, and Willard Gaines, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Gaines, Route 1, Laurelville, were married Dec. 26th, 1937 with the Rev. Metzler officiating.

They are the parents of six children: Ronald Gaines, 140 Villa Drive; Mrs. Joyce Armstrong, 553 Maize Court; Robert Gaines, Delaware, Ohio; Mrs. Dick (Sharon) McCollister, 97 Stahl Ave.; Deborah and Steve Gaines, at home.

They have nine grandchildren, Meliss, Vanessa and Susan Marie Armstrong; Kim and Kriss Gaines; Angela McCollister; Julie Nichole Gaines; Robin Lynn Gaines and Scott Randall Gaines.

The couple has resided their entire married life in Circleville. Mr. Gaines has owned and operated the Bill Gaines Auto Repair for the past 12 years.

In addition to their children and grandchildren, others at the dinner will be: Mrs. Emma Stonerock, Mrs. Helen Frazier and Mrs. Alva Rinehart.

The many gaily wrapped packages which members brought to be given to veterans at Chillicothe V.A. Hospital added to the holiday atmosphere.

During a short business meeting, Mrs. Frank Gans, president, announced that the civic committee had decorated the Circleville Home for the holidays. Mrs. Shelby Tegardin, a long time member of the club called to express her thanks for being made an honorary member.

Mrs. Schubert Measamer has been named corresponding secretary of Columbus Council and Mrs. Theodore Huston is on the nominating committee of the council. A moment of silent prayer was observed in memory of Mrs. Virgil Cress.

The inspiration for the writing of "Silent Night" was read by Mrs. Dean Sells, who also read Rod McKuen's "Seven Psalms For Christmas."

Mrs. C. K. Vaughan was judge for the best wrapped package of the gifts. Mrs. Lawrence Johnson won the honor and close contenders were Mrs. Luther Bower, Mrs. Ned Harden and Mrs. Sells.

Carol singing was enjoyed with Mrs. Huston accompanying on the piano.

64th Anniversary Feted With Dinner

Mr. and Mrs. David McCain of Ashville, celebrated their 64th Wedding Anniversary on Friday.

Mr. and Mrs. Ralph McCain entertained the couple and their daughter, Gladys of Circleville, at dinner Thursday evening. Also present were their two grandchildren and families, Mr. and Mrs. Gary McCain, and Mr. and Mrs. James Soula, Columbus.

Mr. and Mrs. McCain were entertained to a dinner on Friday evening by their son and his wife, Mr. and Mrs. Marvin McCain of Kingston.

Dear Santa Claus,

My name is Kim. I am eight years old. I have a sister. Her name is Jenny. She is two years old. Here are some things we want for Christmas. I want two pairs of elephant legs and a barbies beauty center and a organ, Cynthia doll and her clothes and anything you want to bring me.

My sister wants a football helmet, and talking baby beans and her furniture and clothes and the earring case, a inchworm, and some candy and anything you want to bring her.

P.S. I will leave you some hot chocolate and cookies.

Yours Truly
Kim Gerhardt and Jenny Adams
Circleville

Dear Santa Clause

I am eleven years old. I would like a International Pro Racing track, and a Lotus Racer, vertibird copter. I have a little brother. He would like a Rumbler X3 and Fighting Geronimo and scatter brain. We will leave you some cookies and milk. Don't forget about the poor children. They would be glad to get toys for Christmas too.

Love, David E. Dille
Circleville

Dear Santa

My name is Ronald Rosee I am 6 years old for Christmas. I would like a pool table London Bridge, down the drain, action viewer, action Jackson, trucks, cars, gun, anything else you want to bring. Remember all the other children.

U. N. General Assembly Ends Meet With Modest Results

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — The U.N. General Assembly ends its 27th session today with modest accomplishments in the areas of environment, sea law and education. "Quiet accomplishments ... not somebody shouting at each other," said outgoing U.S. Ambassador George Bush, summing up positive actions by the assembly during its annual 13-week session. The United States failed in its bid to have the assembly take action against international terrorism. But the assembly agreed to the U.S. demand that its share of the regular U.N. budget be cut from the present 31½ per cent to 25 per cent. The assembly decided to set up a 58-nation environmental governing council and a professional secretariat in Nairobi, Kenya. It will begin work next fall on the recommendations of the Stockholm environment conference. It also decided to begin a conference on the law of the sea late in 1973, which is expected to extend into 1975. And the assembly voted to establish an international university, a dream of former Secretary General U Thant. Chinese-Soviet confrontations were few compared to the harangues which occurred every few days last year. But the Soviets and Chinese each accused the other of trying to help Israel to the detriment of Arab countries. East Germany appeared on the scene in the same observer status long held by West Germany. Both are expected to become full members by next fall. The most frequent confrontations were between rich and poor. President Salvador Allende of Chile highlighted these differences in an 80-minute speech setting forth his feud with the International Telephone and Telegraph Co. and Kennecott Copper. The Soviets won two partial victories in the face of American opposition. One was the assembly's decision to sound out members about convening a world disarmament conference. The other was a proposal by the Soviets to begin work on principles to regulate television broadcasts from space satellites.

Fog, Clouds Cover Much Of Country

Fog and low clouds covered wide areas of the nation today, reducing visibility to near zero in many places and increasing the hazards of highway travel.

The West Coast was fogshrouded with occasional rain showers in Washington and Oregon and snow over the northern and central Rockies.

Dense fog enveloped the western Gulf Coast, and visibility was at, or near, zero. Rain showers were scattered along the western Gulf Coast and parts of Florida.

Warm, moist air moving over snow-covered ground created foggy conditions also from the central and northern Plains east through the Ohio Valley and into the Northeast.

Drizzle and rain was added from the central Plains to the Atlantic and in parts of the Northern Plains and northern Mississippi Valley.

Snow whitened areas in the northern Great Lakes, upper St. Lawrence Valley and parts of New England. In New York, rain and drizzle was mixed with snow.

Temperatures before dawn ranged from 7 at Houlton, Maine, to 68 at Key West, Fla.

Hold CCI Inmate Meet

CHILLICOTHE, Ohio (AP) — Prison officials were to meet with inmate spokesmen at Chillicothe Correctional Institute today to discuss grievances that led to a work stoppage at the prison this week.

Prison Superintendent Frank Gray said inmates apparently are unhappy with the Adult Parole Authority, furlough policies and pay they receive for their work.

Only about 40 of the institution's 1,000 inmates remained on the job Monday and Tuesday in the medical center and food service sections, according to the state Corrections Department.

Today's meeting was to include three department ombudsmen, a department representative, Gray and spokesmen to be selected by the inmates.

The prisoners had asked that they all be included in the grievance session. Prison officials said that would be impossible, but they were trying to rig a public address system to carry the proceedings.

Cleveland Area Credit Card Hoax Causes Heavy Loss

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP)—A credit card hoax has cost area stores at least $25,000, police say, but a store security manager says it's like an iceberg with lots more loss under the surface.

Police say the scheme to create false credit references may have resulted in hundreds of credit cards being issued to fictitious names and that they know the total loss will be more than $25,000.

William A. Halibaugh, security manager for Sears Roebuck and Co. stores in the Greater Cleveland area, said "a number of credit retailers" are involved. Police said there were four but declined to name them.

Halibaugh also said that "the few cases we have investigated may just scratch the surface."

A spokesman for Halle Brothers Co.

confirmed his firm has been investigating for months what he called a "credit card ring."

Lt. Frank K. Corrigan of the Cleveland police said members of the confidence team tricked Credit Bureau of Cleveland, Inc., into giving credit ratings to false names. He said one of those involved in the hoax would call the bureau, using special bureau codes, and ask for a rating on a fake person.

Then, told there was no rating, the hoaxer would say the fake person had always paid his bills well as the store the hoaxer had claimed to represent. After several such calls, there would be a credit rating for the fake person, and then credit cards would be obtained in that name.

12 Inmates Face Charges

WARSAW, N.Y. (AP)—Twelve men who were inmates at Attica State Prison during a bloody uprising a little more than a year ago have been arraigned on charges ranging from murder to assault.

The first of the 37 indictments returned by a special grand jury that studied the rebellion were opened Monday in the county courthouse in this upstate New York village.

More indictments were expected to be opened this week as the state tries to fix the blame for the rebellion, which claimed 43 lives.

Innocent pleas were entered for each of the 12, and the men were taken to Auburn State Prison to await further court proceedings.

The revolt was quelled when armed state troopers stormed the rebel-held section of the prison.

Civil Suit Said No Barrier To Nomination Of Clements

WASHINGTON (AP) — The White House says a civil suit charging William P. Clements Jr. with conspiracy and fraud in connection with an Argentine oil deal contains nothing "which in any way disqualifies" the Dallas multimillionaire from being named deputy secretary of defense.

Press Secretary Ronald L. Ziegler told a news briefing Monday the suit, disclosed by The Associated Press, was a "complicated business dispute" and President Nixon was aware of it when Clements' nomination was announced a week ago.

Clements, meanwhile, told a hastily called news conference in Dallas he is not a defendant in the suit and neither is Sedco, Inc., the oil drilling company he founded in 1947 and heads as board chairman.

"I emphasize there is no suit whatsoever against Sedco, and no suit against me as an individual," Clements said.

However, Sedco general counsel Tom B. Rhodes, who accompanied Clements to the news conference, said Clements may be a defendant "in a formal sense." But he added, "It is no suit for anything Mr. Clements did."

Records in U.S. District Court in Dallas name Clements, three business associates, Southeastern Drilling Corp. and Southeastern Drilling Co. of Argentina S.A. as defendants in the civil suit brought by Antonio A. Diaz, a wealthy Argentine businessman. Southeastern changed its name to Sedco in 1969.

Newport Officials Won't Resign

NEWPORT, Ky. (AP)—Three Newport officials, among nine people indicted on various charges last week, have refused to meet demands they resign or take leaves of absence pending court hearings.

Police Chief Edward Gugel, night chief Donald Faulkner, and commissioner Paul Baker took vigorous stands during a city commission meeting Monday night.

"Taking a leave or being suspended would hurt me when my trial comes up," Gugel said. "I am innocent and the truth will come out at the proper time. I have served this community faithfully and diligently for 25 years."

Santa and the ICE KING

by Lucrece Beale

SYNOPSIS: Oonik and Santa have finally found the Ice King, busily grinding out harsh winter storms from his fearful ice castle. When Santa explained that he and Oonik had come as friends, the Ice King stopped his work and suddenly burst into tears.

CHAPTER TWELVE
THE ICE KING'S STORY
Oonik marveled to see the Ice King cry. Even the King's tears were made of ice. They rained from his cheeks and clattered to the floor like hailstones on a roof.

"What is it? What is the matter?" cried Santa in alarm.
"Nothing," replied the Ice King kicking away the tears. "It's just that you're the first to ever come here and call himself friend."

Then he told Santa how all his life he had lived alone in his frozen castle where not even a servant would live. How no one ever came to call. How he had no friends and everyone in the whole world hated him because he was

"Who would ever marry me?" wailed the lonely Ice King.

Winter itself and brought everyone cold and misery.

"But you are wrong!" protested Santa. "Winter has its proper place. Children love snow and animals love to hibernate and even grownups love to sit before their fires on stormy nights."

The King's face brightened. "Do they really like me?" he asked.

"Of course they do," replied Santa.

"But now," went on Santa sternly, "it is August. For four months the world has waited for spring and summer but still you send your ice and snow and frigid winds. That is wrong. Why do you do it?"

"It's because I am so lonely," burst out the Ice King. "All winter I can keep busy making storms but in the summertime there's nothing to do but sit and mope. So this year I decided I would just keep on making winter forever and that way I'll always be busy and happy too."

Santa shook his head sadly. "And so the whole world will freeze and starve."

The Ice King hung his head and walked away. "I thought since they hated me anyway I might as well be feally hateful," he mumbled.

Santa took out his pipe and lit it. For a long while he smoked in silence and then he said, "You must get a wife."

"What?" cried the Ice King turning to stare.
"A wife!" whispered the Ice King and his eyes softened and he began to smile. Then his face clouded over and he burst out bitterly, "Who would ever marry me?"

Power Plants In Southwest Subject Of Recommendation

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rather than dirty up the clear skies of the Southwest, the Interior Department today suggested that power plants using the region's coal should be built near the cities needing more electricity.

A new report said that carrying coal from remote areas of Arizona, New Mexico, Colorado, Utah and Nevada to population centers elsewhere in the country would cost about the same as building generating plants in the Southwest.

There is pending before a federal appeals court in Washington a case which could make the suggestion mandatory policy.

Environmentalists are pressing the government to interpret federal clean air laws as prohibiting states from allowing the air to become any dirtier even in areas like the Southwest where the air quality is better than minimum federal pollution standards. Longstanding plans for the southwestern plants were cited in the court case.

But no matter where the power plants are built, the report concluded, the central problem is finding better air pollution equipment to reduce their smoke.

Vietnam War 26 Years Old

Tuesday was the 26th anniversary of the outbreak of the war between the French and the Vietnamese under Ho Chi Minh.

The State of South Vietnam emerged 2½ years later. Bao Dai, former emperor, organized with French support a government based in Saigon.

In June 1950, President Harry S. Truman announced he was sending a 35-man Military Assistance Advisory Group to Saigon, the first appearance of U.S. military personnel in South Vietnam.

The war between Ho and the French ended July 21, 1954 at a conference in Geneva that set up the 17th Parallel as the dividing line between North and South Vietnam.

The Interior Department study, a year in preparation, was also done under pressure from environmentalists who said it was required as an environmental impact statement because the proposed power plants would use some federal lands.

It indicated that a variety of environmental harm would come from continued power plant construction in the Southwest, particularly the Colorado River basin, not only from smoke emissions but also from the strip mining of the coal and the scenic view ruined by the plants and their network of power lines.

The report said, however, that there seemed to be no practical alternative to the construction of coal-fired plants if the projected power needs of the next 20 years are to be met.

However, the report acknowledged that "alternatives to reduce the waste of energy, particularly electric energy, by the ultimate consumer have not been explored to any appreciable extent and appear to offer significant possibilities."

Medical Test Volunteers Under Pressure?

Behind the stone walls and iron bars of California's maximum security prison, there are special cellblocks for the violent, the self-destructive, the belligerent.

These places are called adjustment centers. They are, in fact, solitary confinement.

At the California Medical Facility attached to the maximum security prison at Vacaville, Calif., doctors and corrections officials have created the Lister Unit, an experiment in criminal rehabilitation.

From adjustment centers across the state, the Lister Unit takes volunteers who are willing to go through the program's four-phase rehabilitation process which, in theory at least, prepares inmates for a return to normal, or mainline, prison life.

But are the prisoners truly volunteers?

They are told exactly what will happen to them at the Lister Unit. They have the option to go or stay and, once in Vacaville, they may pull out of the program at any time. The principles of informed consent are meticulously followed.

But what options do the prisoners have? If they don't try the Lister Unit, the only alternative is life in adjustment centers. There may be a subtle, unintentional force at work which some researchers call invisible coercion.

It is not only a problem at Vacaville, but in many places where human beings consent to volunteer their minds and bodies for medical, sociological and psychological research. It is created by the nature of the people who volunteer, people who in many cases, live in controlled, rigid environments where rewards and fears are far more significant than they are for the average citizen.

The controversy is whether these people can ever give free and open consent.

The prisoner may think his consent will look good on his prison record and enhance his chances for parole or he may be drawn by the promise of compensation for his time. The soldier approached for defense research may fear the wrath of his superiors if he refuses to volunteer. The critically ill cancer patient may be so desperate that he cannot make a rational decision on participating in the testing of a dangerous new cancer treatment.

In an Associated Press study of human experimentation researchers said they face these dilemmas every day, but so far have not been able to solve them.

Dr. Thomas C. Smith is director of pharmacology for Parke-Davis, a drug house headquartered in Detroit. Along with the Upjohn Co., Parke-Davis runs a clinic inside Southern Michigan Prison at Jackson. The two companies have 1,400 prisoners who have volunteered to act as human subjects for new drug tests.

Smith said in an interview he is acutely aware of the chance that some invisible coercion is involved in the prisoners' motives.

"There's no way to prove or disprove it, no way of saying there isn't some subconscious desire to impress prison authorities," he said.

At Southern Michigan, prisoners learn of the drug-testing program through the prison newspaper. There is no contact by authorities until the prisoners have sought them out.

In all prison testing with the exception of internal programs like California's Lister Unit, prisoners are compensated for their efforts. This, too, has been part of the invisible coercion controversy.

Experts are unanimous in the opinion that a doctor cannot scale down an adult dose of medicine for a child with any certainty of the child's reaction. Yet child-testing is almost never done in clinical research. And some research into children's diseases has been hampered by scientists' reluctance and some legal restraints on experimenting with minors.

"The basic assumption that is made by many laymen is that there is no need to do research on children because you can do it on adults and then scale it down," said Dr. Donald T. Chalkley, chief of the Institutional Relations Section, Division of Research Grants of the National Institutes of Health.

"But it won't work. A child is not a little adult. The physiology of a child is not even the same as the physiology of a baby."

But child studies are difficult to do, partly because of a 1944 Supreme Court decision severely limiting those things for which a parent can volunteer a child.

"Parents may be free to become martyrs themselves," Associate Justice Wiley B. Rutledge wrote. "But it does not follow they are free, in identical circumstances, to make martyrs of their children before they have reached the age of full and legal discretion when they can make that choice for themselves."

The general tendency among researchers and the courts has been to interpret this decision to mean that no research can be done on a child that is not of direct benefit to that child.

Nonetheless, the Food and Drug Administration is considering accepting no new drug or therapy that has not first been tested and proven on children.

And so the dilemmas go. They are not near any resolution. They may never be resolved. But human experimentation will go on.

"We have to use man in experiments as a subject," Dr. Zarafonitis said. "There's no one else but man. We will do everything we can to find experimental models, but we can't find models for everything."

"Society has too big a stake in its own future to allow human testing to go under on an emotional binge or uninformed basis. We've got to work out a method that's fair to everyone with a minimum of risk."

"But there will always be some risk. That's the price of progress."

Man Pleads Guilty

In Akron Slaying

AKRON, Ohio (AP)—The first-degree murder trial of George Carter of Akron has ended with Carter's plea of guilty to a charge of second-degree murder.

Carter, 35, who went on trial last Wednesday in the slaying of his wife, Betty, was permitted to plead guilty to the lesser charge Monday in Summit County Common Pleas Court. Judge Claude Emmons sentenced him to life imprisonment.

Rubella Case Drop Noted

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP) — The National Center for Disease Control has reported a 44 per cent decline over last year in German measles. Known medically as rubella, the disease causes defects in unborn children.

The CDC reported Monday that it has recorded 21,424 cases of rubella during the first 39 weeks of this year, crediting the 44 per cent decline from last year to a five-year vaccination campaign begun in 1969.

Although the disease generally affects children only mildly, they are major carriers of the infection to pregnant women and have been targeted for vaccination to prevent an epidemic similar to one in 1963-65.

In those years, the CDC said, 30,000 "rubella babies" were born with such defects as blindness, deafness, brain damage and congenital crippling. Another 30,000 pregnancies ended in miscarriages or stillbirths.

The CDC has recorded 25 cases of rubella-caused birth defects so far this year, compared with 42 during the same period last year.

Agnew's Early Birds

A Bit Too Early

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — The Cleveland-based "Early Birds for Agnew" are apparently a little too early for Vice President Spiro T. Agnew.

His office has repudiated as unsanctioned the group's fund-raising efforts toward an Agnew presidential candidacy in 1976.

"There's a thin line between paying a man fairly and offering so much that the compensation is his incentive to volunteer," said Gus Harrison, former head of the Michigan Department of Corrections.

"In the case of Southern Michigan, the state set the compensation scales after carefully considering the problems. It's low enough that I don't think it constitutes any incentive in and of itself."

Drugs given inmates are only those deemed by the two pharmaceutical houses and the watchdog committee to be completely safe. Drugs which affect heart rate or the dangerous cancer treatments are never tested on inmates, or any other normal healthy people according to Dr. Harry Demissianos, director of experimental medicine for Upjohn.

"There are certain things we never test on normals," he said. "Take a cancer drug. Most of them are so toxic they are really poisonous. You'd never give them to normal people. You go directly to the patient where there is no choice, where the patient is moribund and is going to die and is in a desperate situation."

Which only brings up another dilemma for researchers. Who has a right to speak for those who cannot physically, mentally or legally volunteer themselves? Experimentation subjects falling into this category would include the desperately ill, the mentally incompetent and children.

That family members can give permission for so-called desperation treatment for the critically ill and mentally incompetent has been widely accepted for many years. Clinical research on children is a can of worms all its own.

Apollo Families Celebrate Safe Return Of Husbands

SPACE CENTER, Houston (AP) — For 13 days there was strain behind the smiles of the wives and children of the men of Apollo 17. Then a splash in the Pacific thousands of miles away brought unbridled joy.

Come into the home of Ronald E. Evans as his wife and two children watched the last Apollo flight carry him and two fellow astronauts back from a voyage to the moon.

The eyes of Jon, 11, were rimmed with tears. Thirteen-year-old Jaime, the big sister, gripped the hem of her slacks. Their mother, Jan, stood close by, glancing alternately at the screen and her kids.

The television picture showed daddy coming home. Orange and white parachutes drifted toward the water and beneath them swinging gently was the spaceship America.

"Nine hundred feet and looking good," came the voice on the TV. "Five hundred, 200, looking great. 100 ...

"Yea!" Jan Evans and her children shouted in unison. They were quickly drowned out by relatives and friends who packed the living room of the

Probe School Fire In Napoleon

NAPOLEON, Ohio (AP) — State investigators are in Napoleon today looking into the city's second school fire in five weeks.

The state Fire Marshal's Office and the Bureau of Criminal Investigation are probing a fire Sunday that damaged three rooms of the Liberty Center Elementary School and a $1.5 million blaze last month that destroyed the Liberty Center Junior High School.

The causes of both fires were uncertain, the fire marshal's office said.

Newsman's Appeal Set

WASHINGTON (AP) — The chief of the Los Angeles Times Washington bureau, jailed briefly for refusing to surrender tapes he said were confidential, goes before a federal appeals court today in a test of First Amendment freedoms.

The Times' John F. Lawrence was held in contempt of court Tuesday by U.S. Dist. Judge John J. Sirica who ordered the newsman jailed "until he purges himself of contempt" by turning over the subpoenaed tapes.

Lawrence was held for about two hours until the U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals ordered him released pending today's hearing.

In Los Angeles, Times publisher Otis Chandler told newsmen his paper would press the appeal on constitutional issues he said are "of utmost importance to the future of our profession."

The material Lawrence acknowledged possessing but refused to turn over to the court is a tape recording of two Times reporters' interviews with Alfred C. Baldwin III, a key figure in the alleged bugging of Democratic National Committee headquarters earlier this year.

Girlie Magazine Spawns Argument

MIDDLETOWN, Ohio (AP) — Thomas Godfrey, 81, will reappear in Municipal Court Dec. 29 on a charge of assault with a hatchet, spawned by an argument over a girlie comic book, police report.

Taylor Blevins, 73, signed the charge after an incident Monday in Godfrey's room. Blevins said Godfrey invited him in before the argument began.

Blevins was treated for head and hand cuts.

AT&T Expects Peak Yule Telephone Calls

NEW YORK (AP) — The American Telephone and Telegraph Co. says it expects 11.5 million long-distance telephone calls to be placed on Christmas, which would make it the busiest calling day of the year.

The company reported Monday that its international operating centers also will be handling 135,000 calls to or from overseas points.

McGovern, Hebert Differ On Bombing

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. George McGovern says President Nixon's renewed bombing of North Vietnam will lengthen the war and stiffen the enemy's resolve.

But Rep. F. Edward Hebert, D-La., chairman of the House Armed Services Committee, offered his own prescription for the air war: "bomb them all."

In a statement, McGovern said Monday that the Nixon administration "has chosen a course that can only keep our young men bogged down in an Asian jungle and our prisoners locked away in Asian cells for still another Christmas."

The South Dakota Democrat said, "it defies all reason to suggest that the North Vietnamese will abandon their cause now—after a generation of struggle—simply because we are bombing the North once again."

McGovern renewed the pleas of his unsuccessful presidential campaign for a firm withdrawal date, an end to the bombing and an end to military aid for South Vietnam.

Hebert found the bombing a key to ending the war. "Mine Haiphong harbor, bomb Hanoi, bomb them all," he said in a telephone interview. "We would never have got them (Hanoi) to the peace table in the first place if we hadn't bombed them."

The administration came in for criticism from the National League of Families of prisoners of war Monday.

"We trust that our country's spokesmen will refrain in the future from raising the hopes of the nation until a peace treaty has been firmly agreed upon," said the league in a statement.

The statement referred to presidential adviser Henry Kissinger's Oct. 26 statement that "peace is at hand" and his announcement Saturday that talks had stalled because an agreement acceptable to the President had not been reached.

Evans home for the celebration.

"Oh, how many times I've met that ship," Mrs. Evans said as her husband and his Apollo crewmates were landed by helicopter on the deck of the aircraft carrier Ticonderoga. Evans had previously served aboard the ship while a fighter pilot in Vietnam.

"Look, there's Daddy," exclaimed Jon as his father followed Harrison H. Schnitt and preceded Eugene A. Cernan out of the spacecraft.

"How do you know?" someone in the room asked.

"Because you can tell," Jon assured them. "It's Daddy."

"Don't they look great!" Mrs. Evans said. "I hope America is proud. I know Ron is proud of America."

Someone broke out a round of champagne.

"Here's to them," Jan Evans said. Across town, at the Cernan home, Barbara Cernan led the cheers of friends.

"The last has been my man and I couldn't be happier," she said amid the hubbub of a party at her home.

Pro Grid Beef Scouts Eye Draft

Pro football's beef merchants, preparing marketing lists for next month's college draft, put a passing strongboy from LSU and a 280-pound defensive monster from Purdue on top. Heisman Trophy winner Johnny Rodgers isn't so highly regarded. One personnel director said "to take him is a gamble, something only a well-stocked team can afford."

Bert Jones of Louisiana State, 6-foot-3 son of former Cleveland Browns pass-catcher Dub Jones, is a near cinch to be the first quarterback plucked by the National Football League.

"You've got to look to the big boys early, too," said a Minnesota Vikings spokesman. "A tough, agile 270-pounder won't be available for long."

Among undergraduate giants, scouts look heaviest upon Boilermaker bouncer Dave Butz. He stacks that 280 pounds on a 6-foot-7 frame with an extra blessing of quickness.

An Associated Press survey of National Football League talent procurers, coaches and front office operatives showed varying thoughts on the elusive, but small Rodgers.

"He's an off-sider at 171 pounds," said one. "Rodgers has some great abilities, but I look for the wave of big guys and a few other offensive backs to go before him."

But, another personnel chief called the Cornhusker sensation, "a man whose talent overrides his lack of size. I'd probably take him if he was available when our turn comes."

The general opinion was that the 1972 crop of seniors is excellent overall, especially in big blue-chip linemen. There are good bets at quarterback, but a shallowness in runners and wide receivers.

Gary Huff of Florida State is a strong No. 2 choice behind Jones among quarterback prospects. You hear the names of Virginia Tech's Don Strock, Arkansas' Joe Ferguson and Utah State's Tony Adams from some.

Otis Armstrong of Purdue appears destined to be the first running back selected in the NFL draft Jan. 31. Few scouts seem high on Greg Pruitt, a 176-pound yardage gobble from Oklahoma who was second to Rodgers in Heisman balloting.

Lanky Chuck Foreman, 6 feet 3 and 215 from Miami, Fla., is among the most treasured running backs but many teams are interested in him more as a wide receiver.

There's always a little-known small college ace picked early in round one. The best bet this time is 6-foot-5, 255-pound Wally Chambers, a defensive end from Eastern Kentucky. Also keep an eye on 6-foot-7, 276-pound John Matuszak of Tampa.

When it comes to tight ends, the scouts turn almost unanimously to 6-foot-4, 230-pound Charlie Young of No. 1-ranked Southern California.

"If we needed a tight end," said an NFL club spokesman, "I'd snatch Young because he just might start from the day his rookie season begins."

Big offensive linemen are precious items with pro teams and the current crop has more than its share. Several names popped up at every turn of the talent survey.

There's Paul Seymour, 250-pound Michigan offensive tackle and brother of Chicago Bears receiver Jim Seymour. A converted tight end, he has been a fortress in the Wolverine line.

Jerry Sisemore of Texas, 6-foot-4 and 255, was called "a beast, a tough s.o.b." by one personnel man and "certain to go in the top six" by another.

Alabama's John Hannah, 6-foot-3 and 275, was called "the best offensive lineman I've had" by Coach Paul Bryant and the Bear gets no arguments from the pros.

Somewhat surprisingly, many NFL experts not only hesitated on Heisman man Rodgers' future, but also tread softly on Maxwell Trophy winner Brad Van Pelt of Michigan State and Outland Trophy recipient Rich Glover of Nebraska.

Glover, at 234 pounds, is felt to be too small for where he's excelled in college—as middle man in the defensive line. A shift to linebacker is probable and resulting doubts cut Glover's chances of going high in the first round.

Van Pelt, a dazzling safety at 6-feet-5 and 230, is sidestepped among top first-rounders only because he is so athletically blessed that a rich baseball contract may also be ahead.

Greg Marx is in the same category with Butz as a super defensive line prospect. The 6-foot-5, 240-pound Notre Damer is touted as a better pass rusher than Walt Patulski, an Irish end who went to the Buffalo Bills as the NFL's No. 1 choice of last January.

Popular cornerbacks with the pros, although not expected to go instantly in the first round, are Florida State's James Thomas, Texas Southern's Mike Holmes and Burgess Owens of Miami, Fla.

At linebacker, Steve Brown of Oregon State and virtually unknown Jim Youngblood of Tennessee Tech are hot bets.

One possibility of early selection is rangy, 6-foot-4 Southern Mississippi linebacker-kicker Ray Guy. The 194-pounder led the nation's punters with 46 yards a kick with boots that average hanging in the sky over 4.5 seconds. He also knocked through a 61-yard field goal and excels as a safetyman.

College Basketball Action Heavy

Cafferky has a distinct weakness for those great big sandwiches and Davidson showed a distinct weakness for North Carolina State's Cafferky in college basketball Tuesday night. The 6-foot-1 senior played hero, scoring 25 points including a clutch basket in the final minutes that helped the fourth-ranked Wolfpack defeat Davidson 103-90.

Three other members of The Associated Press Top 10 teams also played and won easily Tuesday night.

Fifth-ranked Minnesota routed San Francisco State 78-38, No. 6 Long Beach State walloped overmatched Hofstra 93-44 in the opening round of the Nassau Classic, and 10th-ranked Missouri ripped South Alabama 94-66.

Marvin Barnes scored 23 points and dominated the backboards, leading Providence to a 73-60 triumph over Oregon. Barnes grabbed 18 rebounds and Ernie DiGregorio had 22 points for the Friars.

Jim Rippe had 16 points and seven steals, pacing Xavier to a 67-60 victory over Auburn. Rippe tied the game at the half, stealing a ball and scoring the basket. Then he scored the opening points of the second half, moving the Musketeers out in front.

Illinois got 29 points from Jeff Dawson to defeat Furman 86-81. Roy Simpson had 22 for the losers.

Bobby Sherwin reeled off 11 straight points midway through the second half and Army trounced King's Point 73-50. Sherwin hit seven of 10 field goal attempts and finished with 17 points.

Wisconsin blew most of a 19-point lead but then pulled away to whip West Virginia 77-59. The young Mountaineers, who started three sophomores and two freshmen, fell behind 37-18 but came roaring back to chop the Badger lead to 55-51 midway through the second half.

But then Wisconsin turned on the attack and pulled away for the victory. Leon Howard's 16 points paced the winners.

Clint Harris' 27 points led Iowa State to an easy 96-67 victory over North Dakota State. Bill Benson added 18 for the winners.

Purdue outscored San Jose State 16-1 in the first four minutes and rolled to a 119-86 victory. Frank Kendrick hit 27 points for the Boilermakers, who scored 19 consecutive points at the start of the second half to clinch the victory.

Johnny Skinner of San Jose State led all scorers with 33 points.

In other games, Yale defeated Brown 99-88, Harvard took Holy Cross 91-80, Manhattan slugged Wagner 101-55, Colorado State whipped Stanford 77-72, and DePaul defeated San Diego 89-75.

MSU Victorious In Hockey Tourney

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP)—Bob Boyd and Gilles Gagnon scored two goals apiece to pace Michigan State University to an 8-3 victory over Brown for the championship in the second annual Cleveland Holiday Hockey Festival.

Ohio State University scored four straight goals in the third period to defeat defending champion Bowling Green in the consolation game.

"If I improve all around, I can't hurt myself," said Portland forward Sidney Wicks before the start of the season.

No, but he can do a job on some other people ... like the Chicago Bulls, for instance.

Wicks scored 33 points, grabbed 24 rebounds and handed out 11 assists Tuesday night, leading the Portland Trail Blazers to a 109-100 upset over the Chicago Bulls, dropping the Bulls 2½ games behind Milwaukee in the National Basketball Association's Midwest Division.

The Bucks raced to a 61-29 halftime lead and coasted to a 121-77 rout of the Seattle SuperSonics behind Kareem Abdul Jabbar's 33 points.

In other NBA games, Los Angeles beat Buffalo 126-100, Atlanta topped Kansas City-Omaha 119-102, Phoenix whipped the New York Knicks 117-84

4 Colleges Name Coaches, UC Loses Dan Radakovich

Four more colleges—Brown, Kentucky, Miami, Fla. and North Texas State—named head football coaches Tuesday while a fifth—the University of Cincinnati—lost a coach it thought it had.

This was the way it went:

—Fran Curci, citing a longtime desire to coach at "a large, state-supported school in the Southeastern Conference," left Miami to replace the ousted Johnny Ray at Kentucky, long an SEC doormat.

—Miami promptly named Pete Elliott, its assistant athletic director and former head coach at Nebraska, California and Illinois, to succeed Curci.

—North Texas State tapped revenge-minded Hayden Fry, fired by Southern Methodist earlier this month, as successor to Rod Rust, dismissed following a 1-10 campaign. North Texas plays SMU in 1974 and a bitter Fry, who remarked after being fired that "somewhere along the line I'll pay them back for what they did to me and my assistants," admitted that the 1974 meeting "was a little motivation" in his taking the North Texas job.

—Brown, which has won only 12 games in the last eight years and hasn't had a winning season since 1964, hired John Anderson, a former assistant at Dartmouth and Boston College, who led Middlebury to an 8-0 record in 1972. He succeeds Len Jardine, who resigned last month.

—In a stunning development, Dan Radakovich, a Colorado assistant who was named head coach at Cincinnati last week, phoned athletic director George Smith and turned it down, citing "a personal and a family problem."

Other major head coaching jobs still open are at Iowa State, Northwestern and Utah State.

Tiger Juniors Take Pair From Teays Valley

Circleville's seventh and eighth grade cage teams swept a pair of games from Teays Valley Tuesday on the Vikings' court.

The Tiger seventh graders downed the Vikings, 31-23, with a fourth quarter assault. The game was nip and tuck through the first three periods with the score tied 6-6 at the end of the first quarter. Circleville held a 13-9 lead at halftime and were on top 19-17 at the end of the third canto.

Toren Bensonhaver and Dave Marshall led the Tigers with eight points each, Larry Reed added seven, Roy Huffer had five and Mark Albright netted three.

Ron Little and Dwane Hettinger paced the Vikings with eight points apiece, Rick Queen hooped six and Bill Dowell added one.

Circleville is now 2-1 and Teays Valley is 2-1 on the season.

Circleville's eighth graders jumped out to a 23-4 lead at the end of the first quarter, led 33-10 at the half, held a 45-12 margin at the conclusion of the third canto and ended with a 51-16 victory.

Merrill, Mogan and Fath paced the Tigers with 10 points each. Gregg Cline led the Vikings scoring with six points.

Boston Bruins Beat Pittsburgh Penguins

The missing second turned into a missing goal for the Pittsburgh Penguins.

As a result, the Boston Bruins made off with a 3-2 victory in the only National Hockey League game played Tuesday night, breaking a tie with the New York Rangers in the East Division and climbing within one point of first-place Montreal.

Boosters Cancel Meet

Circleville Athletic Booster Club will not meet 8 p.m. tonight in the high school cafeteria. The next meeting will be 8 p.m. Jan. 3.

Aces Drop Contest To Fairfield Union

Despite a fine second half rally Amanda Clearcreek could not overcome a poor first half and dropped a 67-57 decision to undefeated Fairfield Union in a Mid-State clash Tuesday night on the Aces' floor.

The Aces found the lid on the basket in the first half as they trailed 17-6 at the end of the first period and were on the short end of a 40-19 count when the teams went to the locker rooms at halftime.

It was a cold opening for the Aces as they only managed to hit two of 19 shots in the first period and found the frigid atmosphere carrying over into the second period.

But the Aces refused to say die and came storming back in the final two periods with some good shooting and an outstanding defensive effort. They cut the Fairfield lead to 49-40 at the conclusion but were unable to overcome the first half deficit despite a fine performance.

"A poor percentage from the foul line and a cold hand in the first half was the thing that beat us," Coach Jim Wright commented.

"I was extremely proud of the way our boys bounced back in the second half and feel that Rex Riddle, Greg Glendenning and Bob Mason turned in great defensive play in the second half," Wright continued.

Riddle paced the Aces attack with 18 points, 16 coming in the second half. Virgil Strickler added 11, Glendenning hooped 10, Mason and Bob Foster had six apiece, Jeff Palmer four and Larry Stroup netted two. Ken Millisor was the big man for Fairfield with 29 points.

The Aces shot 23 of 67 from the hardwood and converted 11 of 28 from the charity stripe while Fairfield had 21 of 48 from the floor and 25 of 32 from the free throw line.

The battle of the boards was about even with Fairfield pulling down 31 rebounds and the Aces getting 30. Strickler had 10 for Amanda-Clearcreek and Pat Hampson getting 14 for Fairfield.

Fairfield committed 23 turnovers in the contest while the Aces misplayed the ball 16 times.

Amanda-Clearcreek is now 3-2 for the season and will be at Canal Winchester Friday night.

SUMMARY
AMANDA-CLEARCREEK—Glendenning, 4-2-10; Riddle, 8-2-18; Foster, 2-2-6; Palmer, 2-0-4; Strickler, 3-5-11; Stroup, 1-0-2; Mason, 3-0-6. Totals, 23-11-57.

Viking Freshmen Nip Olentangy

Teays Valley's freshmen squad nipped Olentangy, 42-40, Tuesday night to remain unbeaten in Metropolitan League play.

The Vikings held a 12-8 lead at the end of the first period, were out in front 25-20 at the half and held a 31-30 edge at the conclusion of the third canto.

Dave Schiff paced the Vikings with 15 points, Jeff Cogger and Rusty Rathburn each added nine, Mark Messick had six, Brad Sherman two and Dave Barr hooped one.

Teays Valley is now 5-1 for the season and 5-0 in league action.

"If I improve all around, I can't hurt myself," said Portland forward Sidney Wicks before the start of the season.

In other NBA games, Los Angeles beat Buffalo 126-100, Atlanta topped Kansas City-Omaha 119-102, Phoenix whipped the New York Knicks 117-84 and Golden State nipped Boston 115-112.

In the only two American Basketball Association games played, Denver defeated Dallas 137-115 and Carolina edged San Diego 116-111.

Wicks, the NBA's rookie-of-the-year last season when he averaged 24.5 points and 11.5 rebounds per game, teamed with Geoff Petrie—the 1970-71 rookie of the year—to tame the Bulls in the first four minutes of the fourth quarter.

Petrie sank five of his six shots in that span and Wicks dominated the boards as Portland put the game out of reach. Petrie finished with 24 points.

Seattle Coach Tom Nissalke wasn't at all pleased with his Sonics, who registered their lowest point total in club history. "One of the poorest performances ever put on by a professional team," was the way Nissalke put it.

Abdul-Jabbar scored 22 of his points in the first half as the Bucks posted their fourth consecutive victory and sent Seattle to its 10th straight defeat on the road. Seattle sank just 26.5 per cent of its shots in the first half.

Braves Battle Huntington

Coach Dave Little and his Logan Elm Braves will be putting their 7-0 record on the line tonight when they travel to Huntington.

Teays Valley awaits the arrival of Circleville Friday night in a county clash and Westfall will not see any action until next week in the Logan Elm Holiday Tournament.

The Braves will have their work cut out for them as Huntington has a strong club this year and are currently sporting a 4-0 mark in the Ross County League.

Logan Elm is rapidly developing into one of the stronger teams in the area. The Braves are paced by a pair of fine shooting guards in Tom Sykes and Tim Justice who have been putting points on the board.

Also adding to the Braves success is a fine defense and good bench. Coach Little has some depth on this year's squad and has been using it to good advantage.

Red Rose HORSE FEEDS

HIGH SPIRIT CONCENTRATE

A VITAMIN-MINERAL CONCENTRATE SUPER-CHARGER

Red Rose High Spirit helps develop that extra something you can see in a horse or pony of great breeding. It helps provide pep, vigor, nerve, stamina; it helps build a horse's red blood count, muscles, and bones. After following an approved feeding schedule of High Spirit, you'll notice your horse's increased alertness, glossier coat, and brighter eyes.

In addition, you'll be absolutely sure, no matter what feeding program you're using now, or under what conditions your horses work, that they'll get more than the balance of vitamins and minerals recommended by the American Feed Manufacturers' Association and the National Research Council. It's "nutrition insurance" for about 10¢ a day.

For top palatability High Spirit has an appetizing sucrose sugar flavor. It contains 12 important vitamins, and 11 minerals.

Miami Puts 9 Players On Pro Bowl Team

NEW YORK (AP) — Unbeaten Miami has placed nine players including fullback Larry Csonka and wide receiver Paul Warfield on the Pro Bowl squad of the American Football Conference.

Oakland grabbed eight spots on the 40-man roster announced today for the National Football League's all-star game scheduled Jan. 21 at Texas Stadium near Dallas.

Pro Bowl participants are selected by NFL head coaches. Still to be announced are the National Conference selections.

Dolphins named along with Csonka and Warfield were offensive tackle Norm Evans, offensive guard Larry Little, safetymen Dick Anderson and Jake Scott, defensive end Bill Stanfill, middle linebacker Nick Buoniconti and kick returner Mercury Morris.

Garrison of San Diego. The other tight end was Rich Caster of the New York Jets.

Winston Hill of the Jets was selected at offensive tackle and San Diego's Walt Sweeney won nomination at a guard spot. Baltimore's Bill Curry joins Otto at center.

Joe Namath of the Jets was named by the AFC head coaches to share quarterback duties with Lamonica while Earl Morrall, leader of unbeaten Miami, was overlooked.

The coaches picked the four 1,000-yard ground gainers, tabbing Buffalo rushing king O.J. Simpson along with Csonka, Hubbard and Harris.

Other defensive ends were Elvin Bethea of Houston and Deacon Jones of San Diego. Cincinnati's Mike Reid was named as a defensive tackle along with Paul Smith of the Denver Broncos.

The linebacking corps for the AFC Pro Bowlers will include Willie Lanier and Bobby Bell of Kansas City and Ted Hendricks of Baltimore.

Rounding out the cornerbacks will be Robert James of Buffalo and Kansas City's Emmitt Thomas. Kenny Houston of the Houston Oilers joined

Pick Parrish As Leader On Defense

NEW YORK (AP) — "It's a dog-eat-dog world out there," said Cincinnati cornerback Lemar Parrish, who chewed up Houston like a hungry hound with a pound of hamburger.

Parrish intercepted three passes, running two of them back for touchdowns to lead the Bengals to a 61-17 stampeding of the hapless Oilers Sunday.

It brought the third-year pro from Missouri's Lincoln University the selection today as The Associated Press Defensive Player of the Week in the National Football League.

Also nominated was the entire Pittsburgh defensive unit, which intercepted four San Diego passes and recovered three fumbles, limiting the "Chargers' total offense to 172 yards en route to a 24-2 victory and the Steelers' first divisional title in 40 years.

The Bengals, who held a 16-10 halftime lead, widened it to a not-necessarily insurmountable 33-10 after three periods. Then the roof fell in on the Oilers with Parrish leading the demolition.

Dolphins named along with Csonka and Warfield were offensive tackle Norm Evans, offensive guard Larry Little, safetymen Dick Anderson and Jake Scott, defensive end Bill Stanfill, middle linebacker Nick Buoniconti and kick returner Mercury Morris.

Seven of Oakland's eight picks were offensive stars including wide receiver Fred Biletnikoff, tight end Ray Chester, offensive tackle Art Shell, offensive guard Gene Upshaw, center Jim Otto, running back Marv Hubbard and quarterback Daryle Lamonica.

Lone selection from the Raiders' defense was cornerback Willie Brown. Pittsburgh, the Central Division winner, grabbed four spots while "wild card" playoff team Cleveland failed to dent the Pro Bowl roster.

Rookie running back Franco Harris headed Steeler picks and was accompanied by placekicker Roy Gerela, defensive tackle "Mean Joe" Greene and outside linebacker Andy Russell.

Other wide receivers chosen were Otis Taylor of Kansas City and Gary

Garrison of San Diego. The other tight end was Rich Caster of the New York Jets.

In Memoriam

In loving memory of husband and father, Ervin L. Kocher, who passed away 2 years ago today, Dec. 20.
Sadly missed by wife and children.

In loving memory of my dear husband, Carl H. Doner. Our first Christmas in 54 years without you. How we miss you and so lonely without your smile and voice. Vacant chair at table will always be and footsteps are no more.
Sadly missed by
Mrs. Doner and Family

GENERAL TENDENCIES: You are apt to be overemotional today and tonight and to make some definite mistakes if you allow this to affect your mature and deliberate judgment. So take the time to think out objectively and impersonally the answers to whatever is important to you and put your emotions aside till a better time for them.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) Problems at home need careful handling, not arguments and recriminations. Use your head and all can be solved satisfactorily. Some outside personal problem should also be solved quickly, wisely.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) Shop with care for the items you need and keep purse or wallet zipped. A kind word will calm wrath, so do not lose temper with others. Avoid one who has strange ideas and could get you mixed up.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) Important to handle financial and real estate matters most carefully today when you are not feeling quite up to par. Listen to what an expert in finances has to suggest. Follow best suggestions made.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) Forget self when dealing with other persons and you get better results with them and do away with self-consciousness that is detrimental to your advancement. Take the health treatments you need early. Tone down on temper.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) Use more constructive methods than fussing and fretting about what you can do little about, and then you can do much that is progressive. Sulking at home alone is defeatism. Get out in the world of activity and strut your stuff — make big headway.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) You have social plans that should be carried through in most effective way. Know what it is you want to accomplish and act in a positive manner. Forget all that vacillating from one thing to another.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) Carrying through with promises made to a bigwig is important now, or you could lose ground where your public image is concerned. Get vital bills paid. Some civic work you have to do must not be neglected, either.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) Try not to force others to go along with your own ideas or you could alienate good friends. State your views calmly and permit them to use their own free will. Get that special talent you have to work and advance.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) Important to handle obligations well instead of going off on some tangent or other today, otherwise you could regret it tomorrow. Meet the expectations of an attachment. Don't disappoint this person.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) Show associates that you are most precise in handling your end of affairs, since they are in a questioning mood. You, too, should ask questions if you are in doubt and relieve your mind. Avoid one who has an eye on your assets.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) Important to make preparations now for the coming week so you are ahead of the game. Ask questions concerning anything you are not sure of. Plan time for improving your charm and health, also.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) Learn to smile more no matter how you feel or what worries you may have, and this helps you win out. Give attention promptly to creative work you have to do. A wise person can give good advice.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY ... he or she will be one of those most sensitive young people who will definitely have artistic talents and should have these brought out early in life since the greatest success can come through such self-expression. There is also much ability at whatever is of a business nature, since there is an instinctive knowledge of what the public needs and desires. Send to the college of own choice for best results. Sports are secondary here.

Views On TV And Radio

NEW YORK (AP) — A bill the Nixon Administration has drafted is causing new ulcers along Broadcast Row here because it directly involves the three networks' 589 affiliated television stations.

It could markedly affect whether those affiliates carry network news and entertainment programs when the subject matter is controversial.

It would require all stations at license renewal time to show they offered "reasonable, realistic and practical opportunities for the presentation and discussion of conflicting views on controversial issues."

And it would make individual stations specifically responsible for the balance and taste of a network program they aired. They couldn't offer a defense simply by saying they referred all complaints to the network's headquarters.

"God, is that going to cause a wave," said one stunned network executive who asked that he not be identified.

The ABC, CBS and NBC networks each own and operate five television stations in major U.S. cities. NBC also has 218 affiliated TV stations, CBS 196 and ABC 175, according to network spokesmen.

All must have their broadcast licenses renewed every three years by the Federal Communications Commission, although the proposed administration bill would extend this period to five years.

The measure was outlined in a speech Monday by Clay T. Whitehead, director of the White House Office of Telecommunications Policy. He said it wasn't a vindictive assault on the networks.

But Sig Mickelson, who headed CBS News for seven years, said the draft bill was dangerous in that it appeared to use affiliate stations "as a club to hold over the heads of the networks."

"And secondly, of course, it seems to be taking the first long step towards direct control of the news," said Mickelson, now a journalism professor at Northwestern University in Evanston, Ill. Mickelson, head of CBS News from 1954 through 1961, currently is heading a 12-month private study of the relation of the media and the government.

He was asked what effect he felt the proposed legislation would have on network news coverage.

"I think it would have, to use that famous phrase, a 'chilling effect' on news," he said. "It would force such careful consideration of the news that I think it would force news personnel to be excessively conservative."

"In covering the news, you have to take a gamble once in a while. You can't play everything safe. And I think they (network news divisions) would have to play almost everything safe."

What effect would the measure have on investigative reporting?

Views On TV And Radio

NEW YORK (AP) — A bill the Nixon Administration has drafted is causing new ulcers along Broadcast Row here because it directly involves the three networks' 589 affiliated television stations.

It could markedly affect whether those affiliates carry network news and entertainment programs when the subject matter is controversial.

It would require all stations at license renewal time to show they offered "reasonable, realistic and practical opportunities for the presentation and discussion of conflicting views on controversial issues."

And it would make individual stations specifically responsible for the balance and taste of a network program they aired. They couldn't offer a defense simply by saying they referred all complaints to the network's headquarters.

"God, is that going to cause a wave," said one stunned network executive who asked that he not be identified.

The ABC, CBS and NBC networks each own and operate five television stations in major U.S. cities. NBC also has 218 affiliated TV stations, CBS 196 and ABC 175, according to network spokesmen.

All must have their broadcast licenses renewed every three years by the Federal Communications Commission, although the proposed administration bill would extend this period to five years.

The measure was outlined in a speech Monday by Clay T. Whitehead, director of the White House Office of Telecommunications Policy. He said it wasn't a vindictive assault on the networks.

But Sig Mickelson, who headed CBS News for seven years, said the draft bill was dangerous in that it appeared to use affiliate stations "as a club to hold over the heads of the networks."

"And secondly, of course, it seems to be taking the first long step towards direct control of the news," said Mickelson, now a journalism professor at Northwestern University in Evanston, Ill. Mickelson, head of CBS News from 1954 through 1961, currently is heading a 12-month private study of the relation of the media and the government.

He was asked what effect he felt the proposed legislation would have on network news coverage.

"I think it would have, to use that famous phrase, a 'chilling effect' on news," he said. "It would force such careful consideration of the news that I think it would force news personnel to be excessively conservative."

"In covering the news, you have to take a gamble once in a while. You can't play everything safe. And I think they (network news divisions) would have to play almost everything safe."

What effect would the measure have on investigative reporting?

4 Killed In Shooting Spree In Cleveland; 3 Wounded

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP)—Four persons were massacred and three others wounded Tuesday night, police said, when an unidentified man went on a shooting spree in a house where drugs allegedly were sold.

Describing the scene at the house in an older section on the southeast side of the city, Police Lt. John Essex said a drug "shooting gallery" had "turned into a death shooting gallery."

Killed were David Young Jr., 31, his son, Raymond, 15, Connie Gregory, 23, reported to be Young's wife, and Charles Ross, 29.

Wounded were David Young Sr., 66, his wife, Eliza, 68, and a granddaughter, Wanda Byrd, who was four Tuesday.

Eliza Young was listed in critical condition at St. Luke's hospital. Hospital aides said she had been shot in both temples and blinded.

Police said the house in a predominantly Negro area was used as what they called a "package store" to sell hard drugs. Essex said a quantity of hard drugs was found in the house.

He said paraphernalia for administering drugs also was found.

Police records showed the younger Young had been picked up in a drug raid in June but had not been charged.

David Young Sr. described the gunman as being in his mid to late 20s wearing a black leather jacket. He said the man walked into the house and when he asked him where he was going the man replied, "I'm going upstairs to kill all those..."

Young said he heard nine shots, then the man came back downstairs. He said the man pointed a handgun at him but the gun misfired. He then pulled another gun and shot him in the face, Young told police, then shot Mrs. Young and the child.

Young was reported in fair condition at the hospital.

Nixon Moves To Ease Fuel Restrictions

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon has moved to bolster the nation's strained fuel supplies by permitting importers to start using their 1973 oil allocations immediately and by lifting import restrictions on Virgin Islands petroleum products.

The twin actions announced Monday by the White House are intended, a spokesman said, to "buttress recent alerts ... to all refiners on the need to increase, wherever possible their heating oil production."

Nixon's proclamation authorized the Secretary of the Interior to hand out the 1973 petroleum allocations immediately, based on the 1972 allocations.

This means, said a spokesman for the Office of Emergency Preparedness, that importers will be allowed to bring in at least as much oil and related products next year as they did this year.

The OEP spokesman said the interim 1973 allocations can be used immediately. The government wants importers to "move out right away" to bolster fuel supplies as winter arrives, he said.

Nixon's proclamation also removed the 15,000-barrel a day restriction on shipments to the mainland of petroleum products refined in the Virgin Islands. The document authorized the Secretary of the Interior to permit additional imports from the Virgin Islands, and officials estimated that upwards of 35,000 barrels a day in additional petroleum products could be shipped to the mainland from the island territory.

The actions were necessary, an administration official said, because a siege of extremely cold weather had left the fuel situation "very tight" in large sections of the country, especially the Midwest.

Last Apollo Moon Trip Best

SPACE CENTER, Houston (AP) — It stuttered at the start, but once it left earth Apollo 17 was the smoothest, the most trouble-free of all the moon landings.

A computer-driven device halted the Apollo 17 countdown and stalled the launch for two hours, 40 minutes. It got off finally, at 12:33 a.m. EST, Dec. 7, and rose on a tail of fire which cut through the black Florida sky and turned midnight into dawn.

From then on it was smooth space sailing — with only minor irritations —

New Ohio Sales Law Takes Effect Jan. 1

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Starting Jan. 1 Ohioans who buy goods or services worth $35 or more as a result of solicitation in their homes or elsewhere have the right to cancel the sale up to three days after the agreement is signed.

Door to door salesmen or others affected by the law cannot begin to provide the goods or services for three days unless the customer waives his cancellation rights. Violations of the law can bring fines up to $1,000.

Pocketbook Found

A man setting traps on a creek near Trimmer Rd. found a pocketbook that was part of loot stolen from a Canal Winchester house burglary Monday night.

Deputy Sheriff John Bost found all of Donald Coleman's identification in the pocketbook plus $800 in traveler's checks and about $200 in bank checks.

for the two Navy men and the civilian scientist of the last Apollo flight.

Every other moon landing mission had at least one major problem, and an incident on one flight nearly cost the lives of three spacemen.

On Apollo 11, the first moon landing, an overloaded computer aboard the lunar module gave false abort signals, but Mission Control overruled the computer and the landing was a success.

On Apollo 12, the lunar module was targeted toward a large crater and the astronauts had to overfly it to land, and plans for television scanning of the lunar surface went awry when the astronauts pointed the camera at the sun and ruined the lens.

On Apollo 13, an oxygen tank exploded 200,000 miles from earth on the flight toward the moon. The astronauts were forced to board the attached lunar module to survive long enough to return to earth. The mission is considered the only Apollo failure.

On Apollo 14, the astronauts had trouble docking the command and lunar modules shortly after leaving earth orbit. They went on to accomplish a successful moon landing.

On Apollo 15, they had difficulty separating the command module and the lunar module while in moon orbit prior to landing. Plumbing aboard the craft leaked, the astronauts suffered cardiac irregularities on the moon and a parachute collapsed just before splashdown.

Apollo 16 had to be cut short when a part of the command ship's main rocket engine failed to work properly in lunar orbit. It prevented an orbit-changing firing which was necessary for safety's sake before a landing could be permitted. The problem was subsequently solved and the landing was allowed to proceed, but the astronauts returned to earth sooner than planned.

Beside such problems, the Apollo 17 difficulties seem small. A fender on the moon car broke off and the astronauts improvised another. All three astronauts suffered from minor gastric distress. And some of the scientific instruments did not operate precisely as planned.

Additionally, a pair of scissors were lost. They were never found. And the wiring in a headset used to communicate with earth broke. It was repaired.

Dr. Christopher C. Kraft, the director of the Manned Spacecraft Center at Houston, summed it all up: "I've never seen a more perfect space flight than this."

Driver Injured In Local Mishap

An 18-year-old Circleville youth was injured in a one-car accident 9:41 p.m. Tuesday on E. Ohio St. at the Kingston Pike.

Jerry R. Boltenhouse, 319 E. Corwin St., was taken to Berger Hospital for treatment of injuries suffered in the mishap.

According to the report at the police station, Boltenhouse was eastbound on E. Ohio St. and failed to stop at the Kingston Pike. The auto traveled 190 feet into the yard of Mary V. Smith, 390 Kingston Pike, before coming to a stop.
